Palestine Battles Rage, Toll Mounts

By BENN FELLER

JERUSALEM, Dec. 3 (INS)—The latest toll of casualties in beleaguered Palestine showed 86 killed or injured in the past 24 hours and the toll was mounting hourly despite extraordinary military precautions by the British. Approximately $2,000,000 in damage to Jewish property, transsuffered up to noon.

There was no sign that the Arab campaign of arson, riot, looting and bloodshed was abating.

FOOD CRISIS

Jerusalem, meanwhile, faced a serious food situation as Jewish delivery men refused to enter Arab sectors and Arab drivers are reluctant to enter Jewish districts.

As the second day of a three-day Arab general strike, proclaimed in protest against partition of Palestine, drew to a close, the casualty list stood:

Eight Jews and four Arabs killed.

Fifty-two Jews and 12 Arabs wounded.

The new Jewish casualties included the death of Moshe Neuman, a senior officer in the Jewish Haganah defense army.

Neuman fell when fighting was renewed this morning in the "no man's land" between all-Jewish Tel Aviv and mainly Arab Jaffa.

CURFEW VIOLATED

The Arab casualties included one killed and five wounded in clashes when Jewish Haganah forces repulsed an Arab gang near the Apak police station on the communal boundary between Jaffa and Tel Aviv.

Hadassah Hospital in Tel Aviv reported 30 Jews wounded in a single clash on the outskirts of all-Jewish city.

During the night, Arab masses violated the dusk-to-dawn curfew that had been imposed by the British and made their way into the Jewish quarters of Jerusalem, flaunting daggers and other weapons.

Before they were repulsed, one of them stabbed to death a 27-year-old Jew named Yitzchak Pinto who had been driving a truck near the Jaffa gate.

'DEATH TO JEWS'

Another Jew was stabbed while walking in the Mt. Zion area.

Mobsters made for the Yemin Moshe quarter, shouting "death to Jews" but finally were driven back into the curfew area by advancing troops who fired on and wounded two of the leaders.

RABBI BARUCH KORFF

'Bomb Plot' Rabbi Arrives Tonight

Rabbi Baruch D. Korff, 33, back in the U. S. after the French government dropped charges that he planned to bombard London with Zionist propaganda leaflets last September, will arrive here by train tonight to visit his aging father, Grand Rabbi Jacob L. Korff, Woodrow ave., Dorchester.

He will be met at South Station by a cavalcade of cars led by a police escort. His father and a host of friends, including the city's Jewish leaders, then will gather in the Woodrow ave., synagogue to offer a prayer of thaksgiving for the young rabbi's safe return.

He is expected to give his account of his arrest and detention from Sept. 7 through Nov. 21. Korff has maintained his arrest was planned by the British to divert attention from the Jewish refugees taken from the Exodus 1947 and transported to Hamburg in three British ships the same day.

Friends of the family said the U. S. State Dept. claimed on the day of the young rabbi's release that it never had been informed of specific charges against him.

Stiffer French Sabotage Law Wins in Vote

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP) — The French National Assembly, reacting swiftly to official reports that saboteurs caused a fatal train wreck during the night, approved today a law sharply increasing the penalties for sabotage and for agitating strikes.

The deputies were told that saboteurs unbolted sections of track and thus derailed a mail train near Arras shortly after midnight. A railway official said 12 persons were killed.

After acting on the sabotage law, the Assembly recessed a session which had continued throughout the night, and prepared to reconvene later today to act on the last three parts of a five-section anti-strike law demanded by Premier Robert Schuman.

The first section of the strike control bill suspends the present laws and penalties pertaining to sabotage. The second, establishes penalties of up to 500,000 francs ($4200) and jail sentences of five years for saboteurs or for any one who "by threats of violence blows or fraud" either starts strikes, keeps them going or prevents anyone working who wants to do so.

The third article doubles the penalties for cases in which machines actually are damaged; the fourth provides punishments for those who "directly provoke" sabotage or the use of violence or fraud in strikes

Reds War on West, House Group Asserts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (INS)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee declared today Russia has "openly declared a war on the free institutions of the West," backed by a growing military force of more than 4,000,000 troops.

In a formal report urging stopgap aid for Europe, the committee asserted that Communist-controlled parties are determined to seize power in democratic states in Europe by all means, legal or otherwise.

To this end the report said the Communist leadership "has now instigated a rain of strikes and violence."

The committee report urged support for its emergency foreign aid measure, containing $590,000,000 for France, Italy, Austria and China, a reduction of $67,000,000 in the amount requested by President Truman for western Europe.

House debate is expected to open tomorrow.

The committee, headed by Rep. Eaton (R.) of New Jersey, said that "the impact of Communist antagonism to the recovery of Europe under Democratic auspices especially in France and Italy have reached the point at which an examination of the military forces in Europe is pertinent."

At the committee's request, the Army department furnished estimates on the strength and disposition of Soviet armed forces are divided roughly as follows: Ground forces, 2,600,000; air forces, 450,000; navy, 600,000; security troops, 400,000.

The department declared that the overall disposition of the Soviet army and security troops was as follows:

Western USSR, 1,114,000 (56 divisions); occupied Europe 588,400 (43 divisions) or a total in the west of 1,702,400 (99 divisions).

Mother of 3 Held In 1945 Baby Killing

BROCKTON, Dec. 3—Mrs. Eleanor F. MacDonald, 29, mother of three children, who during her soldier-husband's absence allegedly drowned a baby born to her as the result of attacks by three men, was held without bail on a murder charge in district court today and the case was continued to Jan. 7. Her brother-in-law, Arthur M. Silva, had been charged with being an accessory after the fact of murder, having finally disposed of the body, according to police. Today, however, the charge was dismissed and he was held in $500 as a material witness.

ARTHUR M. SILVA
Held as Witness in Baby's Death
Record-American Photo by Frank Turner

Police Capt. D. Edward Sullivan said Mrs. MacDonald and Sylva had signed confessions. Sullivan said the young mother had explained that during the summer of 1944, while her husband, Cpl. Harry MacDonald, 31, was away, she met two uniformed men and a civilian in a tavern.

They later attacked her in an automobile and she bore the unwanted infant, a girl, Feb. 25, 1945, in Sylva's home, unattended, while his wife, Mrs. MacDonald's sister, was in a hospital, police said the confession ran.

Then, according to the document, Mrs. MacDonald drowned the baby in a pail of water, hid the body in Sylva's cellar without his knowledge, and he did not discover it until four months later.

TELLS HUSBAND

Mrs. MacDonald and Silva disposed of the body by dumping it in a cesspool in the rear of his home, keeping their secret until last month, police said, when Mrs. MacDonald could no longer stand the attendant "mental torture" and telephoned her husband at Ft. Dix, N. J.

The latter conferred with his chaplain and the provost marshal at Fort Dix, then was granted a leave to come home to his wife.

MacDonald talked to his wife and then told the story to Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing. The latter called in Brockton police.

The Brockton soldier said he had taken the action he did because it was the only way to relieve his wife's conscience.

As soon as she was arrested, he retained counsel and brought her a new dress for today's court appearance. He indicated he would remain loyal to his wife, mother of their three children, Joan, Sandra and Ruth.

Antiques Worth All You Can Get, N. H. Supreme Court Rules

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 3 (AP)—Antique dealers in New Hampshire have the right to charge exorbitant prices for their wares, as long as the charges are consistent with existing market prices, the state supreme court has ruled.

The court gave that opinion in ordering a new trial for Mrs. Katherine F. (Bryer) White, a Sandwich antique shop operator and interior decorator, who seeks $41,000 she claims a Newton, Mass., woman owes her for merchandise and services.

The opinion declared the dealer was entitled to "whatever prices Mrs. White could obtain on a fair market under the circumstances . . . however exorbitant they may appear to the uninitiated.

"An article that can be sold on the market at a given price is worth that to the buyer, although it may result in a large profit to the seller," the court found.

Mrs. White sought the $41,000 she said Mrs. Bertha F. Schrafft owed her for decorating and furnishing with antiques part of Mrs. Schrafft's country house in Holderness, a 40-room English style house in Newton, a room at the Newton Country Day School and a 5th ave. apartment in New York.

The New York apartment was occupied by Mrs. Schrafft's oldest daughter, Katherine, and her husband, Sir Peter Norton-Griffiths, according to testimony.

Mrs. White claimed the total charges involved were $192,000, and that only $151,000 payment had been made, leaving a $41,000 balance.

Mrs. Schrafft contended certain items were falsely warranted to be genuine antiques, and she sought to have the charges reduced.

Feuding Grandma Evicts Own Daughter, 3 Children

A 27-year-old East Boston mother and her three small children were evicted by her mother today from their second floor apartment in Gove st., as the result of family quarrels.

Deprived of her apartment, her furniture taken away in a van after a constable served the eviction notice, was Mrs. Jennie Ferrangano. The action had been taken by Mrs. Rosaline Lalicata, grandmother of the three Ferragano children, Loretta Rose, 7; Robert Angelo, 5, and Jeanette, eight months.

The grandmother, who occupies another apartment in the building, said there had been too many quarrels, adding, "I have taken all I could take for three years."

She added, however, she would give shelter to the grandchildren if necessary.

Her daughter, who refused to let the furniture be placed in a van which arrived with the constable, hired one of her own. She said her husband, Angelo, had gone to look for another apartment.

Anti-Inflation Bills Mapped As CIO Asks '3d Round' Rise

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—An Administration move to submit its own bills on the most controversial parts of President Truman's anti-inflation program and an impending CIO wage boost drive touched off a new cost of living battle in Congress today.

Although Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio withheld comment until he has had a chance to study the legislation involved, other Republicans made it plain that two promised measures covering the price-wage, rationing and allocation field will face prompt opposition.

At the same time, the CIO announcement that its unions will seek a third round of pay increases in negotiations beginning early next year was described as expected by some Republicans, who said this development would complicate congressional consideration of cost of living proposals.

Some Democrats, on the other hand, took the view that it might speed action on Capitol Hill.

However, CIO President Philip Murray said in announcing the new campaign that he and his lieutenants look for no action by Congress during the special session to keep prices down.

After a day-long session with his nine vice presidents, the union leader declared the CIO "is determined to lighten the unbearable economic burden which has been imposed upon the people."

"To this end," the formal statement continued, "the CIO and its affiliated unions shall proceed through the process of collective bargaining to obtain substantial wage increases for the American workers to restore their loss in real incomes suffered through inflation.

Murray said he hoped it would not be necessary to have strikes to win the increases and added that each international union will decide how much to seek.

While he was speaking, the CIO National Marine Engineers Beneficial Ass'n, representing about 40,000 seamen, asked 48 steamship companies on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts for a 15 per cent basic wage rate increase. The demand was made in New York.

Almost simultaneously, responsible administration officials disclosed privately that two bills have been drafted to:

Provide for price-wage controls as well as authority to ration scarce cost of living items, and critical materials, if voluntary price, and distribution agreements cannot be obtained.

Extend for two years the second Decontrol Act of 1947 and broaden it to include controls and allocation powers over steel and iron, grains and transportation

Buckley Board First Target of Economy Probe

Gov. Bradford's special commission to probe state economies recommended abolition of the State Commission on Administration and Finance and Replacement by a single administrative head, answerable only to the governor.

This proposal came as legislators continued to pile up bills of all varieties prior to tonight's 5 o'clock deadline. Already 975 bills have been filed, and another 200 are expected.

The plan to reorganzie the State commission on administration and finance, if passed, would mean that Thomas H. Buckley, commission chairman and former state auditor, would be legislated out of his post.

Also to go, if the program becomes law, would be George Cronin, state purchasing agent, and Fred A. Moncewicz, state comptroller, another Democratic appointee.

The fourth member of the commission is William H. Bixby, a recent appointee of Gov. Bradford, who is scheduled to serve until 1951. Buckley's term has until 1950 to run, Cronin's until next year and Moncewicz until 1949.

Pair Hijack Truck, $60,000 Cigarets

A North Carolina truck driver, found in a field 30 feet in from Butler dr., Somerville, told police he was slugged and robbed of his 10-ton trailer truck and $60,000 in cigarets today when he stopped in Mystic ave. to check his lights.

The victim, William Reagan, 24, was traced to the field by Medford Patrolman Francis X. Stone, who spotted Reagan's flashlight as he was driving home. Reagan, apparently in a semi-comatose state, was rushed to Somerville Central Hospital where he was able to furnish police with only scanty details before lapsing into unconsciousness.

Reagan said two men approached him when he stepped out of his cab to look at the lights. They struck him over the head and in the stomach, he stated.

Doctors, in a hosty examination, said they were unable to find signs of surface bruises. There was also a possibility, they said, that Reagan wass uffering from a mild case of amnesia.

The trucker said, in addition to loss of the truck and 800 cases of cigarets, he was robbed of his wallet containing $70, and his watch. The truck, he said, was red and bore the marking of Carolina Trucking" on both sides.

A logbook still in Reagan's possession indicated he was due in Boston at 3:30 a. m. but did not list the exact destination. Reagas was ultimately bound for Texas, according to the logbook.

The FBI was called into the case because the hijacked load was an interstate shipment.

Girl, Brother Start Paying Penalty in Killing of N. H. Dad

LACONIA, N. H., Dec. 3—Barbara Roberts, 21, and her brother William, 16, whom she promised her dead mother always to protect, today began paying the penalty for the shooting death of their father, while two older brothers looked forward to a family reunion when the law has been satisfied.

Barbara began a three-to-five-year sentence at State Prison at Windsor and William started a probationary term at the Golden Rule Farm at Tilton, following a surprise ending to one of the most bizarre patricide cases in New Hampshire history.

The two, on trial for second degree murder, changed their pleas to guilty of manslaughter. Both accepted the chance to plead to the lesser degree than tell of the tyranny of the victim, Sylvester Roberts, 52, a merchant mariner.

CLOSE OLD HOME

Sorrowfully, two older brothers, Charles and Robert, closed up the 200-year-old family home at Gilmanton Iron Works where the father was shot to death last Christmas Eve after returning home from sea in a violent rage.

They plan to go back to sea at once and remain there until their younger sister and brother have paid for the crime. Then the old homestead will be renovated and reopened, and the four will begin life together again—probably three years hence.

The change of plea came after lawyers and Judge William Grimes had conferred privately for several hours.

Atty. Gen. D'Amour then announced the pleas were acceptable to the state, after careful consideration in weighing the case. Judge Grimes then pronounced sentence, and Barbara, her brothers pressing forward to give her words of encouragement, was led from the courtroom.

"It's a great load off my mind," she said. "I didn't care so much what happened to me but I was determined that nothing must happen to Billy. I promised my mother on her death bed that I would always take care of him."

New Bill Aims At Reduction Of Divorces

Legislation designed to cut the number of divorces granted in Massachusetts was filed with the House clerk today on behalf of Atty. Samuel G. Thorner, of Boston, who asserted the time had come to stop talking about the divorce evil and to do something constructive to halt it.

One measure is designed to revise existing procedure in the hearing of petitions, provide closer examination of the vast number of uncontested cases, and set up boards which would seek to effect reconciliations between parties involved.

The other measure for a comprehensive study of the divorce laws of Massachusetts and other states by a legislative recess commission with the intention of improving existing statutes.

"The increase in divorce in Massachusetts is appalling," Atty. Thorner said, in discussing the bills filed on his behalf by Rep. Frank D. McCarthy, of Medfield.

"I don't say my propesed solutions are perfect but I hope they are a start in the right direction."

He would establish in each probate court a division of domestic relations which would have jurisdiction over uncontested cases. Testimony would be heard by commissioners appointed by probate judges.

Another section would require probate judges to appoint boards of investigation and conciliation, made up of three members, who would investigate all divorce cases and seek to effect reconciliations before the actions wereb rought into court.

A third section would establish an "alimony trustee" in each probate court. This officer would be responsible for collection and payment of alimony and support judgments.

WISCASSET, Me., Dec. 3—Rene Browns, 28, of Rockland, was slain by two vicious killers—probably hitchhikers whom he stopped to befriend—on Thanksgiving Eve on Route 1, it was established today.

WITNESSED FIGHT

Browne's body, three bullet wounds in the back, was found off the highway Thanksgiving Day.

Sheriff Herbert L. Pinkham announced that Harry Hubbard of Portland was the first to describe a fight he witnessed as he drove his bus over Route 1 on a Portland-Rockland run.

Hubbard, employed by the Maine Central Transportation Co., said his headlights illuminated the scene and the three men were fighting, with one man attempting to escape from the others. Then Hubbard was past, he said, but only seconds after passing heard a shot which he thought had been fired by some hunter.

STOLEN CAR MISSING

The second bus driver, Edwin E. Robinson of Falmouth, who was wheeling the second section of the run, said he passed the spot at 8:25 and saw two men standing at the rear of a car whose trunk was open.

Bloodstains and empty .32 cal. shells had been discovered at the struggle spot by investigating officials after a hunter came upon the telephone worker's corpse. The time of death subsequently was established at approximately 9:30 Wednesday, or shortly after the battle.

Meanwhile the car in use by Browne on the murder night and now accepted as stolen by his slayers, has not been found.

Nazi Pilot Again Insists Hitler, Eva Fled to U. S.

WARSAW, Poland, Dec. 3 (AP)—A Warsaw newspaper today quoted German SS Pilot Capt. Peter Baumgart as saying that Adolph Hitler and Eva Braun fled to the United States aboard a submarine two days before the fall of erlin in 1945.

Baumgart was quoted in similar fashion last October, but he did not then say Hitler and Miss Braun boarded a submarine. The newspaper, Wieczor, specializes in sensational stories.

FAST CASH FOR SCHOOLS

SANFORD, Me., Dec. 3 (AP)—Maine's largest town appropriated $440,000 for school purposes in one minute flat—something of a speed record, town officials said.

Margaret F. McGovern, Tremont st., Boston; Mrs. Catherine C. Meaney, Auburndale; Marjory H. Gleason, West Broadway, South Boston, and Mary B. Walsh, State st., Boston (l. to r.), in Federal Court, Postoffice sq., yesterday, following their admittance to the Federal Court with 54 other lawyers.

Mother, 19, Admits She Killed Baby

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3 (AP)—A bewildered mother, shaken with tears, pleaded guilty to a charge of strangling her three-month-old daughter because, she said, her husband told her she must "get rid of the baby."

Dorothy Gingery Smith, 19, told Judge John P. Egan how she carried the infant from Jeannette, Pa., to Pittsburgh last April, stuffed rags and papers in the baby's mouth, and left the body beneath a railroad culvert.

Her husband, Daniel, who she said was not the father of the child, is on leave from his Army service post in Ft. Lewis, Wash., and standing by his wife. He said he meant only to have her give the child away after a landlady had threatened to evict them because of the baby's crying.

Aged Woman Inmate Killed on Her Day Out

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—For five years, Mrs. Minnie Sullivan, 63, a widow, took one day out a week from the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the Aged.

On this week's day out, minutes after she left the home, she was struck by a bus and killed.

GOP Retains Power In Meriden, Ct.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Dec. 3 (AP)—Democrats wrested control of the city of Rockville from the Republicans as the last municipal elections were held in Connecticut for the year, but the Republicans remained in power in Meriden, largest community voting this week.

In a battle between two war veterans, Howard E. Houston (R.) was elected mayor of Meriden over Emmet J. Burke. In Rockville, Democrats elected Alderman Frederick Berger mayor over Tolland County Commissioner Francis J. Prichard.

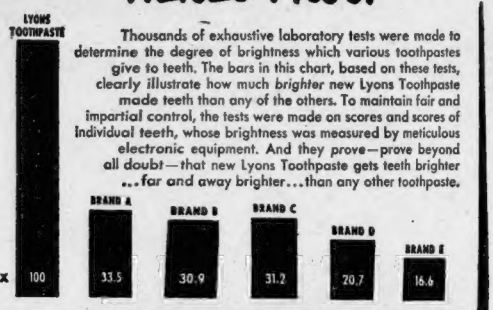
HERE'S THE EVIDENCE
that this utterly new, radically different toothpaste is incredibly better than all others for brightening teeth!

HERE'S PROOF



Thousands of exhaustive laboratory tests were made to determine the degree of brightness which various toothpastes give to teeth. The bars in this chart, based on these tests, clearly illustrate how much brighter new Lyons Toothpaste made teeth than any of the others. To maintain fair and impartial control, the tests were made on scores and scores of individual teeth, whose brightness was measured by meticulous electronic equipment. And they prove—prove beyond all doubt—that new Lyons Toothpaste gets teeth brighter ...far and away brighter...than any other toothpaste.

It's proof, clear and uncontradictable, that this

NEW KIND OF TOOTHPASTE GETS TEETH 2½ TO 5½ TIMES BRIGHTER THAN ANY OTHER TOOTHPASTE!

Amazing Lyons Toothpaste—with its completely new, radically different formula—does what other toothpastes can't do!

Take a look at the chart above... and you will see why we say without the slightest fear of challenge that new Lyons Toothpaste is better by far than any toothpaste on the market for brightening teeth.

Before this chart could be drawn, thousands of exhaustive tests were made. And these tests offer concrete proof that Lyons Toothpaste is better, because they show that while cleaning teeth it actually gets them brighter... 2½ to 5½ times brighter... than any other toothpaste tested.

The reason why Lyons Toothpaste cleans teeth beautifully and polishes them brilliantly—is that it's not just another toothpaste—but is based on a formula that's completely new and radically different. Believe it or not, Lyons Toothpaste actually cleans without soap—polishes without chalk.

Starting today—get more brightness in your smile! Get utterly new, radically different, incredibly better Lyons Toothpaste.

Miss Kennedy Warns Nation Of Juvenile Delinquency Rise

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Juvenile delinquency is still going up throughout the nation, Miss Eunice M. Kennedy, executive secretary of the National Conference on Juvenile Delinquency, revealed. She is the daughter of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

More than half of the 6,000,000 criminals in the U. S. are under 21, according to FBI figures, Miss Kennedy said in a speech here.

The annual $15,000,000,000 cost "of this luxury of lawlessness" is as large as the current Congressional appropriation for the Navy, Miss Kennedy declared.

A crime is committed every 18 seconds in this country, she said.

BEGINS AT HOME

The first responsibility for combatting juvenile delinquency lies in the home, Miss Kennedy asserted, continuing:

"If the home is broken or unhappy, the seeds of trouble have been well planted. Children who grow up in tangled family settings are susceptible to delinquency, just as one becomes susceptible to disease.

"Through no fault of their own, such children are exposed to sickness, not of body, but of soul."

JOB FOR WOMEN

Prevention and control of juvenile delinquency is not solely the job of police organizations, she pointed out.

It is mainly up to women to take the initiative where children and the rights of children are concerned, Miss Kennedy said.

"It is up to women because they are the only ones who have sufficient time, sufficient contact with children and sufficient natural interest in the trials and successes of youngsters."

King Michael Denies Report He Will Wed Dane Princess

LAUSANNE, Dec. 3 (AP)—King Michael of Romania today denied Copenhagen reports of his imminent engagement to 24-year-old Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma.

"There is absolutely nothing in it," the king told an interviewer. "I hear this story everywhere, and everybody knows more about it than I do."

Sources close to the Danish royal family said yesterday in Copenhagen bethrothal of the 26-year-old king and the beauteous Danish princess, who once worked as a salesgirl in t Fifth avenue shop, would be announced within a month.

Emnloyes at the hotel where the king is staying with hrs mother, Queen Helen, and his aunt, the Duchess of Aosta, said Princess Anne was constantly in the company of the royal party. An old porter said the king and princess ::are quite friendly."

Members of the king's staff have stated that no engagement could be announced without approval of the Communist-backed Romanian government.

(In Copenhagen, a member of the Danish royal family said Princess Margrethe, mother of Princess Anne, would fly to Switzerland tomorrow or Friday to visit the young couple.)

The Romanian legation in Bern said it had "no official information." It said the king was leaving in two or three days for Bucharest. He is en route home from London, where he attended the wedding of Princess Elizabeth.

Beryllium Dust Cause of New Lung Disease

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Beryllium lungs, a new occupational disease due to inhaling dusts containing the metal beryllium, were described to the Radiological Society of North America today at Hotel Statler.

Beryllium was a somewhat rare metal until during the recent war, when it was used for pipes in airplane engines and wires.

It also has come into wide use in new fluorescent lights, being used to mix with the phosphors that coat the insides of the bulbs. It is one of the important metals for atomic power plants.

The disease was described by Dr. Stanley A. Wilson of Salem. He said the effects are like tuberculosis and some victims have been sent to sanatoriums under the mistaken diagnosis of TB.

There are two forms of the Beryllium disease. One is acute, from which the victims usually recover in a short time merely by staying away from the work shops. The other is chronic, for which no certain cure has been found.

Dr. Wilson reported on 50 cases of Beryllium lungs from one place. He said seven were fatal.

There is no danger of catching this disease merely by being near objects made of Beryllium. Only the fine dusts in manufacturing processes cause it.

Hub Seeks School Pay Raise Cash

Mayor Curley today busied himself over ways and means to raise the revenue necessary to provide a $1,550,000 pay increase for Boston teachers—now delayed under a 72-year-old law until the next school year.

Equal pay for Boston's women teachers will not go into their pay envelopes until next September, it was announced at an emergency meeting, because a law passed in 1875 provides teachers cannot be given a pay boost after Sept. 1 of any given year.

This announcement was made by Henry Smith, business manager of the schools, at an emergency meeting of Mayor Curley and city department heads. The meeting had been called to decide on ways of increasing tax revenue.

Taxi Co. Loses Fight on Rates In Cambridge

The Cambridge Taxi Co. lost its fight to nullify an ordinance establishing fixed flat rates in that city today when the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court dismissed its bill in equity seeking to enjoin City Manager John B. Atkinson and the license commission from enforcing the measure.

The decision, written by Chief Justice Stanley E. Qua, asserted thec ity had the power to enact the ordinance and was notl imited to fixing maximum rates only for taxicab fares.

"There may have been an important reason for fixing a singlef lat rate," Justice Qua wrote. "It may have been to prevent cut-throat rates, monopoly by a few companies or to make the business lucrative enough to attract a number of cabs."

The ordinance, establishing a rate of 25 cents for the first two-fifths of a mile and 5 cents for each one-fifth thereafter, was enacted last March 31 by amending the original ordinance which had established maximum rates.

The previous rate had been 40 cents for the first ½-mile and 10 cents for each ¼-mile thereafter. This rate had been effective until last March 10 when the Cambridge Taxi Co. established a lesser rate for its own cabs, resulting in revision of the ordinance.

Portuguese Storm Toll Reaches 216

LONDON, Dec. 3 (INS)—The London Daily Mail reported today from Lisbon and Madrid that 216 persons are dead or missing after a 120-mile-an-hour gale tipped into fishing fleets and a steamer off Portugal and Spain respectively.

Bodies of 160 fishermen have been washed ashore, most of them near the Portuguese village of Afurada, near Oporto. Nearly every married woman in the village has been widowed by the disaster.

A 1700-ton Spanish steamer ran around and was wrecked at Ferrol harbor in Spain with 42 crew members drowned.

State Leaders Fight Closing Of Boston Immigration Office

Massachusetts leaders today bombarded Washington with protests over the ordered closing of the East Boston detention station of the U. S. immigration service, declaring it means a saving of only $60,000 a year and eventually will result in closing of the port.

Mayor Curley, Sen. Lodge, Sen. Saltonstall and Frank S. Davis, head of the maritime division of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, were among those spearheading the opposition.

Henry Nichols, director of the immigration service in Boston, said no date had been set for the closing. The shutdown order was necessary because of the sharp falling off in the number of incoming passengers arriving in Boston for processing. Employes here have been given their choice of transfer to other ports, he said.

Mayor Curley, urging all citizens of Boston to unite and prevent "such a calamity," said:

"This would be the most severe blow to the Port of Boston. We must act to prevent it."

Davis said closing of the station would end all hope of bringing back the large passenger liners which are now being diverted to New York and Philadelphia instead of stopping at Boston as in pre-war days. With the closing of the station, aliens would be taken to Philadelphia to await disposition of their cases.

HUNT TWO-TIME BANDIT

Cambridge police today intensified their search for a masked gunman who for the second time in five weks held up David F. Murphy, night manager of a gas station in Bridge st., East Cambridge, robbing him of $35.

Just the Way Beans OUGHT TO TASTE

MY MOTHER'S WONDERFUL cooking was something I still remember, almost with awe. With the fewest motions, and with the little she had to do with, she fed a large family of boys and girls the finest of nourishing meals I ever expect to encounter. To every man, I suppose, fond memory of his mother's cooking is something he carries to his grave.

• Now mother was a woman of many wise sayings, particularly about good food. Among others she always claimed that to try to bake California pea beans by any other than the age-old recipe "soak 'em eight hours and bake 'em eight hours," and to use anything but New Orleans molasses together with other favorite ingredients of hers, was a pretty sure way to spoil one of the best meals known to man.

• And to this ancient bit of culinary lore we folks down here at Waldorf heartily subscribe . . modern and new fangled short-cuts to the contrary. Proper soaking, proper preparation in old-fashioned bean pots, and then the proper baking in big brick ovens certainly has no substitute.

• We are very sure of this . . very sure, and as we have been baking beans for almost forty years we'll be excused, I am sure, if to the modernists we reply "No thank you, New England people like their baked beans cooked our way, so much so that we serve them morning, noon, and night, every day in the week. That's how good they are!"

• So the next time you order a plate of our wonderful Boston Baked Beans, remember there has been no cutting of corners, and everything is as it should be! That's the reason for their golden-brown color. That's also the reason for their rich, delightful, and better flavor . . . just the way baked beans ought to taste.

"What happened to Eldred? He's the one who wanted to dance!"

$200,000,000 Vet Housing Urged

Bay State cities and towns would be authorized to promote a $200,000,000 low rent housing program to build 20,000 housing units backed by state credit under terms of a recommendation by a special legislative commission on veterans' problems.

The commission, appointed by the governor many months ago, also would change present laws so that evictions could be delayed from four months to a year in hardship cases.

Under the program planned, the State Board of Housing would be abolished in favor of a State Housing Commissioner at a salary of $10,000 a year.

The commission estimated that it would be necessary to build 350,000 housing units in this state during the next 10 years to care for veterans and warned that most of them would not be able to pay more than $35 to $50 a month.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE UNITED NATIONS HAVE, at long last, actually reached a decision of a major question: They partitioned Palestine among the Jews, Arabs and Christians. For, it must not be forgotten that the partition recognizes the special nature of the places sacred to Christianity in this region.

The Moslem world voted with a fair degree of solidarity against partition. Some countries with sizeable Moslem populations, such as the Philippines and the Soviet Union, voted for partition, while Greece, with a negligible Mohammedan population, voted along with the Arabs.

Thus, a Jewish political state has been re-established after 2000 years of intermittent effort. It is the most persistent nationalistic struggle in history. No defeat, no suffering, no torture dampened its ardor. The Jewish state will now sit among the United Nations whose creation it is.

So far as the United Nations itself is concerned, its authority is now at stake. Having brought a new state into existence, it cannot permit that state to abort.

In the instance of Hindustan and Pakistan, the United Nations was not a factor. Those states came into existence by treaty with the British Commonwealth, whose possession they were. The United Nations recognized an accomplishment.

IN THE INSTANCE of Palestine, it is the United Nations which created two countries, Jewish Palestine and Arab Palestine, with enclaves of Christian holy places. It is the United Nations which drew the curious map partitioning the country.

It is the United Nations which sends a commission to these countries to set up governments and which will, undoubtedly, pass on their bona fides. Finally, it must be the task of the United Nations to see to it that Arab does not destroy Jew nor Jew destroy the Arab.

And there, of course, is the gist of the matter: The Arab and the Jew must re-learn to live together in peace and to work together and to benefit from each other's toil.

The Jew brought into Palestine, beginning with the Chovevei Zion colonies in the 1880's, a European standard of living. From the very first of modern Zionist efforts, Palestine did not attract the Jewish business man nor the Jewish intellectual.

There have, of course, been startling exceptions to that generalization, but the generalization will stand, because the overwhelming migration of Jews to Palestine has been workers who transformed themselves into farmers.

And the curious fact is that the European Jew who, in the countries of his nativity, knew no land labor, became in Palestine a highly skilled and productive agriculturalist.

DURING THE YEARS of Hitler's power over Europe, many extraordinarily skilled scientists and intellectuals took refuge in Palestine and, together with the large American-financed Hebrew university on Mount Scopus, laid the foundation of a high culture.

The Arabs in the Palestinian and adjacent regions live on a frightfully low standard of life and in trivial obscurantism. The social conflict between Europe and Asia, rather than the religious conflict between Judaism and Islam, arouses such antagonisms as were evident at Lake Success.

The Arab rulers fear the rising standard of living and the westernization of their own people more than they do the presence of an increasingly large Jewish population.

Having for centuries, for instance, kept their womenfolk as chattel, they fear the emancipation by imitation of their womenfolk and the alterations in their family system that are inevitable in marriages of free choice and in women who earn their own living as teachers, nurses, stenographers, sales clerks, etc.

THEY FEAR that the reforms that Ataturk so successfully brought to Turkey will reach the entire Arabic world through the Jews — who are Europeans by birth, habit and culture.

Killing each other will help neither Jew nor Arab. The gangs of the Mufti and the terrorism of the Irgun—which starting as a patriotic movement has become a racket—will serve neither Jew nor Arab. What is required now is calm judgment and honest effort.

WE CAN SAVE OUR PORT

THE DECISION of the United States Immigration Service to abandon the Port of Boston is a staggering blow to New England's pride.

Only a few years ago Boston enjoyed the second largest volume of passenger line business in the nation.

To millions of persons from all parts of the globe, Boston was the front-door city of the United States.

Now the ships are going to New York, Philadelphia and other competing ports, and we are become very much a maritime no-man's land.

Of course, the various promotional organizations will protest to the high heavens and claim, as they always do, that Boston is being viciously discriminated against. Eventually, when everything is wet with crocodile tears, the uproar will subside, and the demise of the port will continue.

Would it not be better and wiser for the organizations and everybody else to declare a much-needed moratorium on hysteria and wishful thinking and to face the obvious fact that the elimination of Boston as a recognized seaport is largely New England's own fault?

Why do New England shippers favor New York to the exclusion of Boston?

We can restore the Port of Boston.

But we will never do it as long as we persist in dodging bitter truths.

HIS FIRST JOB

GOVERNOR HORACE HILDRETH of Maine, an announced candidate for the United States Senate, has called for "positive, constructive tactics" to help Europe and China.

There is not much that the chief executive of Maine can do about a relief program for either place.

But there is a great deal for him to do in his own State, which has never had its rightful share of the nation's prosperity and which has suffered grievously from fires and drouths in recent months.

For example, Mr. Hildreth is in a position to give the long-abandoned tidal project at Passamaquoddy the leadership and backing it needs and lacks.

Passamaquoddy can become the biggest development of its kind in the whole world. It can transform Maine from one of the poorest States in the Union to one of the richest.

It can revolutionize the State industrially, just as similar projects revolutionized the Pacific Northwest States of Washington and Oregon.

We do not think that Mr. Hildreth has to be told that a boat borrowed from the Navy and anchored temporarily in a harbor will never attract industries to Maine or put new life and enterprise in communities which are visibly dying.

"Positive, constructive tactics" are wonderful things.

And they are just as good for Maine as they are for Europe and China.

Besides, it is always better to put one's own house in order before trying to make adjustments in the abodes of distant cousins.

PRAISE

LOS ANGELES 33, CAL.
November 25, 1947

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST,
San Simeon, California.

Dear Mr. Hearst:

WHOEVER IS responsible for the articles in the Los Angeles Examiner on the sad plight of the Navajo Indians by Otis Wiles certainly deserves the commendation of the American people.

Please continue with this expose on these Indians. It is the greatest example of charitable newspaper reporting I've seen in a long time. THE GOOD IT WILL DO IS UNDOUBTEDLY INCALCULABLE.

Anything you can do to keep showing the inefficient, incompetent and indifferent conduct of the public officials in Washington, I'm sure will be greatly appreciated by the American people.

Please don't let this issue die until something is done to eradicate this disgraceful condition among the Navajo Indians.

Sincerely yours,
JACK GREEN.

Two little feet, so small that both may nestle
In one caressing hand,
Two tender feet upon the untried border
Of life's mysterious land.
Will they go stumbling blindly
In the darkness of sorrow's tearful shades
Or find the upland slopes of peace and beauty
Whose sunlight never fades?
Will they go toiling up ambition's summit,
The common world above?
Or in some nameless vale securely sheltered
Walk side by side with love?
— ANON.

ALBERT, WHO became Queen Victoria's prince consort, got off to a very good start. Victoria fell in love with him at first sight. She wrote in her diary: "It was with some emotion that I beheld Albert —who is beautiful." Incidentally, it would seem this would be a good time to revive "Victoria Regina," the play Helen Hayes starred in some seasons back.

ASIDES: Am asked who Joe Leiter was. Joe was that speculative Chicagoan who tried to corner the wheat market around the turn of the century. He is said to have lost $10,000,000 in one day! That day being June 13, 1901 . . . "Beer Has a History" is the title of a book by Frank A. King. Frank says the Egyptians originated beer and that the Greeks were the first to brew it in Europe . . . Among the innumerable celebrated institutions founded on the proceeds of a lottery is the British Museum. Included in the managers of this lottery was the Archbishop of Canterbury.

SHOES: What do you think of paying $65 for a pair of shoes? I know a young woman in moderate circumstances who paid it. Her work requires her to be on her feet most of the day. This necessity caused her to suffer a variety of ailments. The shoes she bought are especially designed for people who work on their feet. The young lady says since she has been wearing these shoes all the aforementioned ailments have disappeared.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—I claim Robert Wadlow, the huge young American, was just about the size of Goliath of biblical history. Am I right? A—You're just about a foot off. Goliath was 9 feet 9 inches in height. Wadlow was 8 feet, 9 inches in height. Q—I find horses harder to figure than women. How about you? A—If you are referring to racing equines I will say they do not baffle me nearly as much as women. After all, in figuring horses, past performances are of great assistance. Unfortunately, the past performances of a female cannot be greatly depended upon as a guide to her future action.

PASSING BY: Gertie Niesen. Dynamic chanteuse. During the time she sang that ditty, "I Wanna Get Married," a number of men took her seriously. She received nearly 6000 proposals of marriage. However, Gertie already has a Grade A husband named Albert Greenfield . . . Mrs. Jean Negulesco. Statuesque model known professionally as "Dusty" Anderson. Subscribers who may want to become models will probably be interested in "Dusty's" measurements, which are height 5 feet 8 inches, weight 120 pounds, waist 24 inches, bust 34 inches, hips, 35 inches.

THAT CLUB: President Hugh Blue of the My Name Is A Poem Club recently rejected the nomination of Doris Morris, of Glen Rock, N. Y., on the grounds her name did not rhyme. This action has inspired much indignation among the friends of Miss Morris. They have formed a "Boo Blue" club. Not only that, they have nominated Clyde Pride, of New Jersey, to run for president of the M. N. I. A. P. in opposition to Blue, who is a Californian.

SAD STORY: Have a highly interesting communication from a San Francisco subscriber who says that until recently he was a "bookie," but is now driving a truck for a living. He says the life of a small bookmaker on the Pacific Coast is not a happy one. Too many smart horseplayers there. And many of those who are not so smart welch and refuse to pay the bookmaker. Then there is that group of professional gamblers known as "The Smart Money." Recently this crowd pulled off a coup that ruined over a hundred small bookies in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

UNCLE TOM: The publisher of the first editions of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" died a poor man. Harriet Beecher Stowe, the author, also died penniless. All George Aiken, who dramatized the Stowe novel, received for his efforts was a present of a gold watch. Now here's a question for some of those film history experts who have been harassing me: Who played the title role in the original film production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin"? And who portrayed Little Eva?

"My husband's too seasick to come to work—all night he dreamt he was on an ocean liner!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—Let us consider, as today's lesson is unionism, the contrast between the royal and aristocratic class of the Teamsters' Union and the rank and file, personified by Harry Mitchell, who drives a truck in Cincinnati, 11 or 12 hours a day, for $55 a week, minus deductions.

Westbrook Pegler

In the November issue of The Teamster, the official circular of King Dan Tobin's royal court, Mrs. Mitchell, the mother of four children, the oldest 15, said they had not had butter in 18 months and that most of their days were meatless days.

In the same issue, Otto H. Frobe of Cincinnati, the secretary-treasurer of Local 100, admitted that this union had bound the men to work for as little as 81 cents an hour. Recently they struck to escape the starvation standard imposed on them by their union.

There we have the extreme of poverty.

NOW FOR THE RICHES, extravagance, pomposity and arrogance. The union bosses have opposed the Taft-Hartley Law which restores to the rank and file some of the rights which the Wagner Act obliterated. The drivers have nothing to do with the appropriation of union money for politics or the content of the union publications which they pay for.

They just pay the bills.

The same issue of The Teamster reports that the American Federation of Labor adopted two bites to raise money to try to destroy the Taft-Hartley Law.

The AFL raised the per capita tax on more than seven million members by 50 per cent and levied a $2,000,000 special tax for the same purpose.

The millions who understand and desire the Taft-Hartley Law nevertheless must pay.

THE COLD FINANCIAL attitude of the union boss toward the membership was expressed when Tobin was opposing a proposal to the AFL convention which would have released the small and miscellaneous "Federal" unions from the fold.

These little cats and dogs of unions, in the aggregate, represent a lot of money on the hoof. More than $1,786,000 a year. Tobin was on his feet, roaring. Release $1,786,000 a year? Hell no!

In the Teamsters' own financial statement, the cost of publishing the International Teamster is stated as $243,313 a year. This thing is personal publicity for old King Dan.

For several years, Lester Hunt, a professional newspaperman, was editor and imposed on the sheet some semblance of journalistic integrity.

But Hunt was too refined, too educated, too ethical. An intelligent man couldn't help shaking his head or smiling behind his hand at Tobin's colossal love of himself and his attempts to "write."

Tobin named himself editor.

THIS IS A SAMPLE of the bilge that Tobin prints about himself, the cost of which Harry Mitchell and thousands of other teamsters may pay out of wages of $55 and less.

September issue, leading story—"Convention gives Tobin Ovation: In a Tumultuous Tribute to a Great Leader—"

I am not kidding. That is exactly what he printed about himself in his own sheet, ostensibly in the interests of the rank and file.

Another sample:

"—Never before did Tobin receive such a spontaneous ovation."

He tells how resolutely he turned down a $10,000 raise and the Harry Mitchells and their wives are not told that, through his unlimited expense account, he can reach into the hamper and help himself to all he wants, any time. There is no income tax on that expense stuff. It is pure gravy.

So he gives himself a tumultuous hand for his magnificent unselfishness in refusing a raise which, after taxes, would be hardly worth having to a man in his brackets.

THEN DAN TELLS how John English, the secretary-treasurer, spoke in favor of a resolution to reduce his own pay from $30,000 to $20,000. Of course, the mob never would stand for any reduction of any official's pay. Because they all aspire to those jobs themselves.

Moreover, any reduction would be a bad precedent and would be sure to give the employers evil ideas. So they finally kept English's salary at $30,000.

Not that he would have been underpaid at $20,000 or even $5000, when you recall that a Cincinnati judge tossed him off the witness stand a few years back when he tried to qualify as an auditor but admitted that he never studied auditing.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 (INS)—Some stars fare better in swashbuckling movies—and the dashing Errol Flynn is one of them. Errol's pictures in a dinner jacket never do as well at the box office as when he's leaping around in costume.

Bearing this in mind, Jack Warner has decided to follow "The Adventures of Don Juan" with another period piece, "General Crack"—a tall tale about a 17th century soldier of fortune of the same name. The title is an abbreviation of the gent's full name, Christian Rudolph Augustus Christopher Kettler. He served Leopold of Austria during the 30 Years' War.

There was a time when my friend, Harry Brandt, listed costume pictures as poison at the box office. But not these days when we seek "escape" entertainment, and costume pictures can be put in that category.

JACK CARSON is Roy Del Ruth's choice for "The Life of Babe Ruth"—but if wishes were horses independent producers would be trading the "majors" all the time. What I mean is that Roy will have to do a lot of talking to Warners if he is to borrow Carson.

Jack Carson

Someone else who would like very much to play the Bambino on the screen is Paul Douglas—but he wants even more to do "Born Yesterday."

I agree that Carson is a natural for the baseball idol because, in addition to being very amusing, he can be warm and sympathetic (two marked qualities of the Babe's personality). Remember "Princess O'Rourke?"

I WAS AMUSED to hear that Cobina Wright Sr. turned agent while in London for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth. She took a young man named Wright (no relation) to the J. Arthur Rank studio, and Rank said when he saw him, "Close the door and test him at once."

Now young Wright gets a part in "Blue Lagoon," which stars Jean Simmonds, the girl who plays Phelia opposite Laurence Olivier in "Blue Lagoon." This will be made in Australia, where Rank seems to be making a number of movies.

I DINED with Freddie Lonsdale a few nights before I left for home, and he told me that Vivien Leigh is well again and so lovely in "Anna Karenina." Freddie hopes the British tax, which will make it impossible for English-made movies to be seen in this country, will be settled so we can see Vivien as Tolstoy's heroine. Remember, Greta Garbo made the same picture years ago.

Laurence Olivier has finished "Hamlet" and that, in Freddie's opinion, will be as good as "Henry V," which, you will admit, is plenty good.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Everything stopped when Greer Garson walked into Ciro's with Otto Preminger and many heads turned in their direction.

In New York I saw Greer with Otto several times, but he was with Natalie Draper more often. Natalie got in town today and I am wondering what will happen. She was with Ivan Goff almost nightly after Otto left New York.

Well, Preminger is one of the most charming men in Hollywood and all the gals like him, including the movie reporters.

I am very happy to hear that Victor Jory, who deserted Hollywood for five years in favor of Broadway, is apparently back in movie town to stay. I have always liked him on the screen.

Because of his work with Rita Hayworth in "Loves of Carmen" he's been given a term contract at Columbia. I saw him in "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" on the stage, and while I thought the play was bad, he was excellent.

I may sound like Dorothy Kirsten's press agent—but I'm not. I am just enthused about our beautiful, blonde opera star because she is a honey as well as a great artist.

I was amused by a telegram I received from her: "Sorry you weren't here for my 'Madame Butterfly' performance. I even fractured my toe trying to put a touch of Hollywood action in the old Met."

If some producer doesn't grab Kirsten for a movie I'm going to be disappointed in our bright boys. I understand both 20th and Columbia are talking a picture.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Lee Marshall was at the Seacombers last eve with Robert Walker. Is that on again?

Nice that Margaret Sullavan—for my money one of the most attractive girls in the movies—is stepping out these days. She was at Le Pavillon with Charles Feldman.

The Douglas Fowleys have dated the long-legged bird in March.

Darryl Zanuck, out of respect to Ernst Lubitsch, closed down the set of "Lady in Ermine" and will keep it closed till after the funeral. Darryl and all the 20th crowd were greatly shocked and saddened by Ernst's sudden death. Otto Preminger will finish the picture but will not take over the reins until Friday.

Ida Lupino received her engagement ring from Collier Young, a beautiful ruby and diamond set in an antique oval setting.

Rita Hayworth looked orfully, orfully pretty at Mocambo in one of her Paris dresses. She was with Prince Pahlavi, Indian potentate.

Sitting near-by were Betty Avery Drown and Jaime De Amo.

Anita Loos, who likes New York and does her writing at 5 a. m.—and that's the truth—returns for the holidays. She's writing a play with Howard Dietz now. She'll probably go to South America when "Happy Birthday," her stage play, opens there.

Janis Carter has been very ill in Rome and almost had pneumonia, but she wouldn't let anything stand in the way of an audience with the Pope.

Marvin Miller is signed by Warners to narrate "Calgary Stampede" an educational subject. Well, Marvin certainly has a narrating voice.

Jack Dempsey in a party at The Seacombers. Estelle Taylor in another party. Question is, How did they hapen to pick the same place, the same night?

Jimmy McHugh is dating Felizia Pablo Vanderbilt, the ex-Mrs. Neil.

Charlotte Greenwood's memoirs of 42 years in show business are in the hands of her publisher.

You can imagine Virginia Farrell's happy surprise when Charlie walked in, an uninvited guest, at a cocktail party in New York. She thought he was still at the Racquet Club in Palm Springs minding their business.

'Way past bedtime Buddy and Hope Lighton, the Arthur Camerons and the George Murphys were listening to the music of Hal Stern at the Lanai Restaurant of the Beverly Hills Hotel.

My Boston

PROGRAM NOTES at the Plymouth opening ("Gentleman from Athens"): This scribble (made in the dark) looks like, "Jim, Joe, Denny, Bea." . . . Oh, yes. Jim Curley obviously enjoyed the quips at Congress. Sitting across the aisle from Jim: Joe Timilty, incurable first-nighter and of course ex-police bossman. Internal Revenue Collector Delaney on the other aisle (and figuring out another ending for the play, as we discover later). Beatrice Whelton relaxing and having a good time, because there's nothing bad to report to Censor Walter Milliken . . . "Wanamaker." In the foyer we meet Sam Wanamaker, director. He tells us that Act II, Scene 2 (the cocktail party scene) was written Sunday on the Pullman coming up from Wilmington, Del. And rehearsed only twice . . . "Dot." With the final curtain calls, Dorothy Ross, N. Y. press agent, studies the critics' faces, smiles because one critic gives her the high sign meaning "OK."

CHAPTER TWO: Tony Quinn, Congressman from Athens, Cal., at the Latin Quarter. Tony: "the ending was changed at 6 o'clock. I didn't know if I'd remember the lines. I didn't even have time to shave. And oh! what a headache I had! . . . . When I tried to shove that big bust of Socrates off the desk, it wouldn't fall, and I had to butt it with my forehead. The audience liked that . . . This was my first stage play. I kept saying to myself, 'Quinn, relax! It's a great horse you're riding' . . . An audience is like a sensitive horse. When you're on a good horse, and you make a mistake, he tells you what to do. He says, 'Look here, pull yourself together. Get going!' . . . I'm glad you thougnt I was good."

EMMET LAVERY wrote the play. One of the most-discussed men in America. At the recent Congressional inquiry, he denied he was a Communist. He is a Catholic and graduate of Fordham. Suing Ginger Rogers' mother for saying his play leaned to the Red side . . . Here yesterday Lavery said the theme of his play was that a man has to show he is as sound as his ideas. The idea of the Congressman from Athens was that of world government . . . We thought Lavery was developing the idea that it is too bad, when a man cries peace and world government, he is branded a Communist (in America), a traitor (in Russia). But he didn't resolve his plot on that line. He turned from Socrates to Cicero. Cicero was no Greek. Cicero was a Roman. Cicero is also a suburb of Chicago. There, gangsterism was born . . . Lavery introduced Cicero-gangsterism into his plot. The play broke at that point. Gone was the high purpose, gone the bright dream.

IF YOU SEE one of the nicest ladies you've ever seen, feeding Hotel Statler bread crumbs to the pigeons, ducks, sparrows and squirrels in the Public Garden—that's Marie Powers, the Madame Flora of "The Medium" at the Majestic . . . Veterans Administration central office (Washington) cut $3,370,000 requests of Gen. Blake's Boston office to $2,600,000. Last night it restored $276,000 of the cut. And said $385,000 more may be granted for medical services. We're glad to have played a part, with Congressmen Wigglesworth, McCormack, Philbin, Kennedy, Rogers and Lane, in the result.

RANNY WEEKS has gone a-disc jockeying on WCOP, without giving up other pursuits . . . Gov. Pastore of Rhode Island, faced with the necessity of providing cigars for Gov. Bradford, etc., because of the birth of a new baby, couldn't find the brand they wanted. "Trouble with you Republicans," said Gov. Pastore, "is you're always asking for something you can't get." He sent them a Rhode Island brand . . . Wonder who's going to grab off the sponsorship of the nightly broadcast by WLAW from the Latin Quarter . . . Steve Allison, announcer of the broadcast, and Fred Kelly (brother of Gene), dancer in "The Firefly" at the Opera House, had a reunion last night and reminisced about (of all things) that monkey in the Red Cross Club in Bombay (that would steal your shoestrings for anything) if you didn't watch out.

JOHN AMES, newly-named general chairman of next year's Red Cross drive, has a real war record. As we discovered when we met him between ships at Newport with Sam Wolcott, Jr., son of a vice-president of the State Street Trust Co. . . . Cleo O'Donnell, old Everett football coach, had a son captain of Harvard a couple of years ago. Another son will be captain next year. You may've forgotten that Cleo's Everett team about 33 years ago had the best high school record ever, with 600 points to zero . . . "Kingmaker." Bill Doyle of the American League is dead. The Malden man who made national commanders (in smoke-filled rooms, maybe, but what of it? Wasn't that the way President Harding was made?) died last night. He fought, in an oxygen tent, to the last.

OH, MIGOSH DEPARTMENT: After double-checking, we still told our correspondent wrong. The mammy of Barry Fitzgerald in "Going My Way" wasn't Adeline Dewalt Reynolds, but Elly Malyon . . . Well, anyway, this is official. Mrs. Robert F. Bradford's favorite recipe for her favorite Governor: Bean Pot Chicken. One fowl or roasting chicken. Five small onions. One-half pound butter or oleomargarine. One-half pint cream. Salt and pepper. Put onions and butter in large beanpot. Cut up fowl and put in beanpot. (MUST be a large beanpot, Mrs. Bradford). Cook in oven three to four hours at low (350 degrees) temperature. When ready to serve, put chicken on platter. Strain liquid in beanpot. Mix one-half pint cream with liquid. Reheat, if necessary. Pour over chicken. (If roasting chicken is used, less time is needed to cook) . . . That's Bob Bradford's favorite in the GOP cook book.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—When Sen. Harry P. Cain, of Washington, returned from Rome recently he brought four rosaries which had been personally blessed by Pope Pius XII.

The energetic young senator, who had been touring Europe as a member of the Senate's sub-committee on displaced persons, presented the rosaries to four prominent constituents: Harold Bird of Tacoma, Roger Shidler of Seattle, Frank Weaver of Spokane, and Herb Wilson of Everett.

Senator Cain said he had no idea to what churches these men belonged, because, as he explained: "In my whole political life I have never asked a man his religion." To each he wrote:

"As you know, I am not a member of the Catholic Church, being an Episcopalian, but I respect the religion of others and encourage the unifying efforts of the Pope to re-establish hope, stability and faith throughout the world.

"I feel that you will derive satisfaction from the rosary . . . or another to whom you might give the rosary."

The Senator made public announcement of the gifts and accompanying notes, confident he had made a small contribution to tolerance. He was flabbergasted when the mail started bringing a deluge of protesting letters.

THE LETTERS, from all parts of the country, were startlingly alike. Disregarding the content of his notes entirely, they accused him of "selling out" to the church of Rome: of being a secret recruiting agent of the Pope and a traitor to his trust.

The letters, by their similarity, bore the imprint of an organized campaign. Nevertheless, Sen. Cain put himself and staff to work answering them. He explained the situation to each sender, then added:

"In this stage of the world's affairs we are constantly denouncing the hatreds and prejudices which are tearing apart the peoples of other lands. Before talking about the prejudices of others it might be well to look into our own."

A NUMBER of days and nights, which should normally bring the surcease of time, have passed since the Army-Navy game, but I am still far from recuperated.

The strain on a delicate mind and body began the night before the game when I overheard the little woman discussing wardrobe with Mrs. Rex Smith, wife of the Old Gray Ghost of Gate City.

"I am going with low heels," said the little woman.

"I can understand you feeling like that about your husband," returned Mrs. Smith, snippily, "but I don't think you ought to talk that way about Gen. Bulkley."

There is always the major problem of how to get to Philadelphia, because almost half of those attending Army-Navy games come from Washington, this being a community filled with personages who are in a position to put heat on the armed forces for tickets.

Every member of both Houses of Congress receives two tickets without asking—but then they start asking. Hounded by constituents, they do a terrific job—and if they happen to be on either of the armed services committee they can just about write their own ticket for tickets.

WE WERE FIGURING how to get space on a train when Mr. Bert Wheeler, the famous baggy-pants comedian, unwittingly came to our rescue. We were with Mr. Wheeler when we ran into Edward F. McGinnis, the very Republican Sergeant-at-arms of the Senate. Mr. McGinnis revealed he had a private car in which he was taking a few selected Republicans.

"I think it'd be all right to include the general and this lug," said Mr. Wheeler. "If they keep their mouths shut the rest of your guests won't know the difference. They look mean enough to be Republicans."

Naturally this touched Mr. McGinnis to the heart, so he invited us along. We weren't more than out of the station when somebody rigged up a complicated football pool. Sen. William F. Knowland, of California, shook his head and muttered:

"If we did anything like this on the appropriations committee we'd be impeached."

At this point Col. Dick Daley, the great gin rummy quarterback, yelled: "Hide the evidence! There's a spy in the joint!" It was Leslie Biffle, director of the Democratic policy committee.

Poles Name Yanks, Britons In Spy Trial

By LARRY ALLEN

WARSAW, Dec. 3 (AP)—The government, opening the trial of five men and two women accused of high treason and espionage, today charged that the United States and British Embassies in Warsaw had received information from the underground which sought to overthrow the Polish government.

The indictment, read by the presiding jurist of a three-man military tribunal, named Arthur Bliss Lane and Victor Cavendish-Bentnick, American and British Ambassadors here until early 1947, as among those supplied anti-state information by members of underground bands or by contact committees.

Also named as receiving information were Col. Thomas Gimson, British military attache in Warsaw; Maj. Peter Winton, assistant British military attache; Lt. Col. Edward J. York of San Antonio, Taxes, and Lt. William Tonesk of Washington, D. C.

York formerly was air attache of the American embassy, and Tonesk, during Lane's ambassadorship, was assistant naval attache.

On trial are Mrs. Maria Martyowska, 54, former translator for the British embassy; Miss Halina Sosnowska, Vladimierz Marszewski, Adam Obarski, Stanislas Sedziak, Wincenty Kwiecinski and Waclaw Lipinski.

All are accused of working in "contact committees with the Polish underground organization, of having carried on espionage against the Polish state," and of treason.

Battle Reich Snow Hunting Plane, 20

BITCHE, France, Dec. 3 (AP)—American soldiers battled blinding mountain snowstorms along the French-German border today in the faint hope of finding alive some survivors of a U. S. Air Force transport plane missing since Friday with 20 persons aboard.

Air Force officers said the search would go on, although they commented gloomily: "Perhaps it is too late."

French gendarmes joined U. S. constabulary troopers in the hunt for wreckage of a C-47 which is believed to have crashed in this area while on a flight from Pisa, Italy, to Frankfurt, Germany.

Severe weather conditions forced the lone remaining search plane to return to base in Germany.

THE GIRL who doesn't like to have her hair look straggly or unkempt will learn to care for her own . . . even to making these wonderful pin-curls which are transformed into a hairdo of distinction and charm. And to make the pin-curls sit prettily before and after combing . . . there's a different kind of quick-setting hair lotion that dries fast and leaves no flakiness on the scalp.

Try Pin Curl Art, Hairdo Then Easy

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

CURLS ARE A FEMININE DISH . . . and every damsel dotes on them from the time she can walk and talk to the day she's a grown-up baby with grown-up ways. They are symbolic of the soft, feminine touch . . . and this season Dame Fashion says "don't spare that touch!"

It is one thing to want curls, undulating waves and ringlets . . . and quite another to have them. Most gals have to settle for the artificially induced kind . . . which is every bit all right and as good as the heritage kind when they are coaxed into being the stay-put and remain-so way.

The Topsy-kind of curls . . . that look like the inner coils of a mattress and have the same kind of jack-in-the-box spring . . . are not what we mean. Do you know how to make a pin curl? When you've learned the art . . . the hairdo comes easily . . . to be arranged to your liking and pleasure. Even with a new permanent wave . . . hair should be home-set every two or three days if the perm's full benefit is to be maintained.

Just setting pin curls is not enough. They should be set with a hair-wave setting lotion that cajoles them into looking like the real and natural thing. And the lotion should be specific in its purpose . . . leave hair soft and beautifully groomed and without flakes. Well, more about the quick-setting wave lotion later . . . but, first, the pin curls.

Dip the comb into the lotion and dampen thoroughly the portion of hair to be pin-curled. The ideal length for a pin curl is three inches . . . according to professional specifications. Now, section off portion of hair to be pin-curled. Comb out small portion of hair about one-quarter inch wide . . . and with fingers . . . roll back from the face, curling ends of hair inside, leaving a wide center. Secure with small hairpins . . . by holding the circle flat and tight on the scalp with one hand. With the other hand take a hair pin and clip the curl flat to the hair near the scalp. Place another hair pin criss-cross so that the finished curl is held firmly.

Remember, the secret of a succesful pin curl is to swirl hair inside and away from the face. This rule holds true whether you are pin curling the top section of your hair . . . or the sides.

Remove hairpins and comb out all curls into one mass...not separate curls...when the head is dry. Now brush hair until every section has been thoroughly brushed through. Take one section at a time and brush softly over hand...pinning into place. Repeat this until each section is arranged in the hairdo of your choice. Wherever wisps of hair fly loose...at the neckline, at the sides, at the widow's peak...apply a touch of the lotion to keep the hair in place all day long.

This wave setting lotion is an unusually quick drying one. If you don't like sitting under the dryer...if you prefer to set your own pin curls at home you'll appreciate the grand quality of this unusual wave-set lotion. This one is different because it dries fast...and it won't flake.

For the name of this excellent quick-setting wave lotion, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHARTED for cruise and spring town wear over a host of other prints later . . . this bright shamrock green tweed coat over a print dress of rust and green motif on a white background is Designer Hansen Bang's contribution to the moving cycle of fashion. It was presented at the recent "Fashions of the Times" showing. Huge hip pockets and full skirt on the coat emphasize the tiny waistline. The dress pursues lovely, full casual lines for comfortable but smart togging.—R. M.

Crusty Fish Fillets Top Peace Plate Special Menu

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

IT'S THE CLEVER COATING technique that wins friends for today's Peace Plate special, Crusty Fish Fillets. Simple directions from the Consumer Service Section of the Citizens' Food Committee tell just how to come up with life-guard brown fillets that hold delicate flavor within their deep and seasoned crust. Best of all, these fillets—using almost any type fish now available—are better for being prepared well ahead of cooking.

With Crusty Fish Fillets, serve panned diced potatoes, and a mixture of green beans and celery cooked together and seasoned to taste. Muffins or rolls, split and toasted, would be good in this meal. What's for dessert? Applesauce Custard Pudding piping hot from the oven!

CRUSTY FISH FILLETS

1½ lbs. fish fillets (flounder, haddock, pike, whitefish, perch)
3 tbsp. grated onion
3 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
½ cup lemon juice
¾ tsp. salt
1-3 cup flour
3 tbsp. water
⅓ cup fat
3 cups corn flakes, slightly crushed
1 egg, slightly beaten

Cut fish fillets in serving pieces, if necessary. Combine onion, butter, lemon juice, salt, egg and water. Dip fish into flour, then into egg mixture. Roll in corn flakes and chill about two hours to set crust. Fry in hot fat until golden brown on both sides. Serve garnished with parsley and lemon wedges dipped in paprika. Makes six servings.

FRUIT MUFFINS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. sugar
1 egg, well beaten
¼ tbsp. melted shortening or salad oil
½ cup cut, seeded or seedless raisins or
1 cup milk
1 cup cut-up pitted dates

Sift together all the dry ingredients. Combine remaining ingredients. Add all at once to flour mixture, stirring, not beating, quickly and vigorously until just mixed and of a lumpy appearance, but no longer. Overstirring causes coarse-textured muffins. Fill greased or oiled muffin pans 2-3 full, and bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 14 2½-inch muffins.

How to Make Friends Though Shy

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: Do you think it is wrong for a fellow of 22 to go out with a girl of 15 or 16? Also, what is the best way to ask a girl to go out on a date?

Being a little shy and not able to carry on a good conversation, I don't really know any girl too well. When I do meet a girl, or one of the boys, I don't know what to talk about. I have the same trouble in writing letters. Maybe you can give me a little advice. "BACKWARDS."

Dear "Backwards":

I wouldn't say that there was anything wrong about a chap of 22 taking a teen-age girl out, but I don't think it is very appropriate. I think that a 22-year-old man would be better off with girls closer to his own age. At the same time, I can very well understand why you may feel more at home with the younger girl. This often happens when men are as shy and self-conscious as you are.

One way to overcome this type of handicap is to be interested in a lot of different things so that you can talk about them enthusiastically. Another good way is to find out what the other person is interested in and encourage him or her to talk about that. Almost anybody likes to have an opportunity to talk about his interests or hobbies to a sympathetic listener, and many a person who just listens is often surprised to find himself considered a "good talker." Try this out and see if it doesn't work.

As for how to ask a girl to go out on a date, if you are too self-conscious to give your invitation straight out, write a little note. That should get you over that particular type of hurdle nicely.

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

WHEN the designers threw open their collections to inspection last spring, surprised spectators made a lot of hasty pronouncements about them, most of which they are now busy forgetting.

The clothes were condemned for just about everything, but the main points of attack were their longer skirts and their silhouettes which are definitely and newly shaped. The first shock has passed, things have simmered down and spectators are ready for a second, more temperate look.

Longer skirts have been accepted. The shaped silhouette turns out to be a figure blessing for most women. Now women wonder how they put up with the paperdoll dresses they used to wear. Now they revel in clothes that emphasize their femininity with whatever devices will do the job: discreet padding, cloth inserts, contrast of color or fabric, pleating, shirring and draping.

The dress designed by Carrie Munn and sketched today is made of black bengaline inset with shaped lines of brown bengaline. The inserts go straight up the bodice to the bust line where they turn toward the outer sides, thus making a frame for the small, scooped-out neckline.

ARABS BAR YANK SCRIBES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — Trans-Jordan has stopped granting passport visas to American news correspondents for visits because their safety cannot be guaranteed, the State Dept. was advised today.

Women's Drink Spots Face Cut in Hours

A bill designed to tighten the laws pertaining to drinking spots where both men and women congregate, aimed at barring unescorted women from prolonged imbibing, will be considered at the present session of the legislature.

In sponsoring the legislation, Rep Edmond J. Donlan of West Roxbury would require mixed drinking cafes to draw gross sales of food equal to liquor or surrender their rights to stay open until 1 a. m. Tavern licenses require an 11 p. m. closing and permit men patrons only.

CALLED CRIMESPOTS

"Mixed barrooms which masquerade as restaurants are breeding spots for debauchees, degeneration and crime," Donlan said. "Much of the drunkenness and broken homes are caused by marathon drinking during the 'slopover hours' between 11 and 1."

LEAD TO TRAGEDY

Donlan pointed out that many assault cases have been recently tried throughout Massachusetts which resulted from barroom pickups after men and unescorted women, strangers to each other, became drinking companions and "hit up casual acquaintances in honkytonks."

"The culmination of these casual barroom pickups incited by lone women drinkers is tragedy for the woman in her ruined reputation, and for the man in his disgrace and subsequent jail sentence," Donlan continued.

"The barroom must be restored to its pre-prohibition prestige as a male institution where a man can take a drink and relax without being molested by a lot of unattached females."

Marshall OK's Dulles Paris Trip

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP)—John Foster Dulles, Republican party advisor to Sec. Marshall at the Foreign Ministers' Council, plans to go to Paris tomorrow to consult French leaders on French foreign policy in relation to the present internal crisis.

Dulles' trip is described as a personal fact-finding mission which has the approval of Marshall.

The Council, meeting half an hour earlier today, was near the end of its debate on preparation of a German peace treaty, but no nearer an agreement on critical issues than when the discussions started eight days ago.

Smart Set Plan Christmas Ball

By BETTY ALDEN

MERRIEST PARTY of the holiday season for the college debs will be the Christmas Ball at the Hotel Sheraton Dec. 23rd, right in the middle of their vacation.

Mothers of debutantes who came out during the past four years and missed many of the parties because they were away at the halls of higher learning, are delighted to be able to give their daughters a new kind of Christmas present in the way of a reunion dinner party before the Ball.

Rebecca C. Bradford

Rebecca C. Bradford, daughter of Gov. and Mrs. [illegible] man of the Christmas Ball which is especially planned for debutantes of '45, '46, '47 and '48 who are college girls. Other debs, friends and guests who have been engaged in activities other than the formal pursuit of learning will be welcome of course.

Miss Bradford's committee includes her debutante sister Ann H. Bradford, Nancy Baldwin, Nancy W. Breed, Mary C. Brown, debutantes Elizabeth Storer and Erica Payson who are at Smith, Lucia Lee Cabot, Holly Forbes and Anne Hazard, freshmen at Radcliffe, Laura D. Curtis, Janet G. Felton, Jean M. Flint, Katharine P. Hill, Mary Hazard, Margaret Hoag, Isabelle C. Leighton, Sally Ray, Barbara Shaw, Catharine C. Watson and Mary Heath Winslow.

Mrs. F. Cobb Chilton is in charge of reservations for the ball.

THE 36TH ANNUAL Christmas Bazaar of the Florence Crittenton League opened its two-day festivities in the Copley Plaza ballroom yesterday. Gifts for all ages are featured and extra attractions include a bridal fashion show this afternoon under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold B. Lamont.

MRS. GUY CURRIER, chairman of the first Bazaar given by the League, attended yesterday with her daughter Mrs. Robert S. Steinert who succeeds her as chairman.

Another mother and daughter prominent in the Florence Crittenton League, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft and Mrs. William C. Cox, are joined this year by the latter's debutante daughter Jane Cox who is chairman of the debutante models for the fashion show.

Glimpsed during a tour of the colorful booths — Mrs. Edward Hobbs of Hingham stocking up on gay aprons, dusters and new dish towels to go with her ultra modern kitchen which has just been remodelled. "It's so shiny and new I feel like wearing an evening dress to cook in," she said. Her tailored gray flannel suit was complemented by a sable scarf and a fetching coronet of American Beauty velvet bows in her blonde hair.

Mrs. Edward M. Hamlin of Beacon street who is one of the ardent workers for the League and the Maternity Hospital and Welcome House it supports, was lending a helping hand at various tables. She took time out from selling hand knit gifts to chat enthusiastically about her new country place with the engaging name of "Horse and Sulky Farm." It is at Temple, N. H., and she and her family keep it open all winter for skiing week-ends. Mrs. Paul Clark, president of the Boston Circle, was doing a rushing business in mens' linen hankies and Mrs. Marian Lawrence Higgins presided at a well stocked table with Mrs. P. A. Goodale, Mrs. Charles Smith and Miss Edith Robinson.

Solon Raps Foes Of Red Probers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) —Rep. Edward H. Rees (R.) of Kansas, chairman of the House Civil Service Committee, in a radio speech, lashed out at groups attacking the Un-American Activities Committee as "intentional or blind followers of the Communist Party line."

"Certain motion picture writers recently refused to tell that committee whether or not they are or had ever been members of the Communist Party," Rees said.

"Their refusal shows that they are ashamed to admit membership, that they have guilty knowledge of the Communist objective to overthrow our form of government, or that they blindly follow the lead of Communists among them who incited them to flat disobedience of a directive of a legally constituted committee of Congress.

"The important thing is that the Communist Party of America is a tool and an agent of the Communist International of Soviet Russia."

Five of the present members of the school committee, three of them women, were leading in their race for re-election on the nine-man board. Those leading in the present tabulation were Joseph L. The refereudum seeking a 48-hour week for firemen in the city appeared defeated with 4272 votes cast against it compared with 3366 favoring the shorter hours in 13 out of 15 precincts.

David's Tower held a second mob in hand when it attempted to break the curfew. Haganah sources claimed that arms had been distributed to Jerusalem Arabs during the night.

In the Jaffa-Tel Aviv district, British troops opened fire upon an Arab crowd trying to break through a curfew barrier. Two Arabs were wounded, as the crowd scattered.

In Jerusalem, Haganah, which yesterday mobilized an additional 10,000 men and women, tossed several "scare bombs" to break up attempts by Arab mobs to force their way into Jewish quarters.

The Holy City's commercial center again erupted smoke, as rioters touched off Jewish shops. Proprietors evacuated goods from these establishments, while retaliation was taken against seven Arab shops in the district.

Next Ten Days Hold French Fate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 -State Dept. intelligence reports now in the hands of Senate and House foreign relations committee, the Hearst newspapers learned, indicate these things: 1—The next 10 days will determine whether the French government headed by Premier Robert Schuman or the French Communists led by Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos will take over France.

2—Dependent on the success or failure of the Communist revolutionary drive in France will be the success or failure of the Italian Communists under Togliatti.

3—Communist successes in France and Italy, if they evolve, will clear the way for a westward roll of Russian Communism over all of western Europe, from the English channel and the Baltic sea to the Mediterranean.

4—The Far Eastern powder keg situations in Korea and China are timed to develop only after the world-minded Soviet government determines the chances of success in Europe.

5—The tactics of totalitarian Red fascism are patterned after the Hitler-Mussolino-Hirohito "cold war" preceding World War II, when the Allies were kept off balance by rapid shifting of Axis objectives.

Down With America, Cairo Students Shout

CAIRO, Dec. 3 (AP)—A crowd of approximately 300 students assembled in front of the United States embassy today, shouting "down with America" and throwing stones at American photographers who tried to take pictures from the roof of the building.

The students forced their way through reinforced police lines to reach the street before the British and American embassies.

THIS was originally the formula of a Boston physician specializing in gastric disorders. Because of so many inquiries, the powder is now put up under the name:

It is a medically approved neutralizing agent which helps form a protective coating on the stomach.

"Kind Lady" Offered By Clarendon Players

"Kind Lady," Edward Chodorov's Broadway melodrama, will be presented by the Clarendon Players, the Boston Y. W. C. A. co-ed community theater group, Friday at 8:30 p. m. in Lee Auditorium, 140 Clarendon st.

It will be the first production as an established community theater of the group formerly known as the Victory Troupers.

OLYMPIA, SCOLLAY BILL

Warner's "Escape Me Never," with Ida Lupino in the Elisabeth Bergner role of the Margaret Kennedy novel, is teamed with "The Fabulous Texan," starring William Elliott, John Carroll and Catherine McLeod, for the new bill beginning tomorrow on the Washington St. Olympia and Scollay screens.

Abbott Show Opens Christmas Night

When George Abbott dedicates "Look, Ma, I'm Dancin'!" at the Shubert Theater on Christmas night, it will be the seventh musical comedy to bear the Abbott imprint of producer and director.

In his first excursion into the song-and-dance field, Abbott came up with "The Boys From Syracuse." Three years later he gave us "Too Many Girls," then "Pal Joey," adapted from John O'Hara's short stories. Remember "Best Foot Forward"? That was the fourth of the Abbott musicals and it boasted, as did the recent "Barefoot Boy With Cheek," of the antic presence of Nancy Walker.

Miss Walker is back working for Abbott in "Look, Ma, I'm Dancin'," playing a toe dancer fired with ambitions. "Beat The Band" was the other Abbott musical.

'The Firefly' Packs Them In Again at the Opera House

The operetta fans surged into the Boston Opera House for the opening of "The Firefly" and behaved just as they did for "Rose Marie" and "The Merry Widow," earlier entries in the series of music-play revivals by the Shuberts.

This is to say that a capacity audience hugely enjoyed the old tunes that Rudolph Friml wrote, so long ago, and the old corn the comedians have just applied to them.

The process is sure-fire. Take the aging books of those standard operettas and just let the comedians have their way with them. It may be inartistic, even inelegant, but the result is lively and the crowd eats it up.

What else can you do with those outmoded stories? Shrewdly aware of it, the producers have relied on their comedians, chiefly the nimble Jack Goode, to give the needed shot of life. They are not disappointed.

And so "The Firefly," having served its time elsewhere, now descends into the Automatic Bargain Basement, where, at the prices, it's a darn good buy for those who like to court a little nostalgia with modern shenanigans.

Beverly Shearer alternates with Grazia Aurelia in the title role, but whichever of the two you hear you will have melodious singing of the deathless hits, "Sympathy," "Giannina Mia" and "The Donkey Serenade."

Chicago Legion Spurs Arms Training Drive

CHICAGO, Dec. 3—Armed with petitions sent to them by state headquarters of the American Legion in Bloomington, some 8500 of the 101,000 Legionnaires in Cook County took the lead in the nationwide campaign for 10,000,000 signatures urging Congress to enact universal military training.

They began gathering signatures at work, on the street, in meetings and in homes in a phase of the campaign which State Commander Douglas Getchel said was certain to bring at least 500,000 signatures in the Chicago area.

Honeymoon Over, Horsemen Learn At Gulfstream

By JACK CONWAY

THE REAL REASON why racing has been suspended temporarily at Gulfstream Park in Florida was because Jimmy Donn, president of the swanky racing plant, is smart enough to know that the golden days of the turf are over. The mutuel handle, the life blood of race tracks with big overhead, was off at the Gulfstream opening, and the attendance also took a nose-dive.

Gulfstream handled $400,000 less than it did at its spring opening of 1947, while its $600,000 total was $200,000 below the mark set at its December opening of two years ago. Since early last winter, when people in racing still felt there was no end to their days of prosperity, this writer has declared that the racing honeymoon was over.

Sharp drops in mutuel handles and in the value of race track securities support this statement. There were only two tracks in the East which ran against the downward trend this year. One was Monmouth Park in New Jersey which did so well that it paid off three years of 6 per cent interest on its bonds, and the other was the half mile track at Northampton which is associated with the Massachusetts fair circuit. There was a 10 per cent pickup in the mutuel handle at Northampton which brought the total for six days close to $1,000,000.

Jimmy Donn

The Great Barrington Fair, aided by a new $30,000 "tote" held close to its record figures of $1,200,000 for six days.

In other places there was a decided drop in mutuel handle, the losses running from 20 to 30 per cent.

High Cost of Living Hits Tracks

EVEN PROFESSIONAL GAMBLERS must eat and have some place to live before they play the races. With prices of some commodities still soaring, people have less fresh spinach to toss recklessly into the mutuel machines.

The man who used to bet $1000 on a race is at the $100 window or in the $50 line. The $50 and $100 bettors are wagering $5 and $10 on a race, while those persons who used to wager $5 and $10 are in many cases in the $2 lines. Other bettors have taken a leave of absence from the tracks, and are trying to catch up with the meat and grocery bills at home, and also save sufficient money to cover the 15 per cent advance in rental.

Jimmy Donn, who parlayed a steamship ticket from Scotland to the United States and a florist shop into the $3,000,000 Gulfstream race track, knows that if one gives away 110 per cent of anything he will not remain in business for long, so he refused to settle with the horsemen until they agreed to compromise their demands for $22,500 in purses daily apart from stakes. Donn could use the same simple arithmetic he employed when making up his accounts in the florist shop to get the correct answer on Gulfstream Park.

People from the North have not been in a hurry to go to Florida this year. Phil Buccola, manager of Joey Angelo and Ralph Zanelli, recently visited Miami and was amazed to find a landlord asking $5000 for an apartment that rented for $2200 last season. The place was still vacant which proves there is a limit for which people will pay even for sunshine.

Horsemen Must Be Reasonable in Demands

WHEN FOLKS POURED MONEY into the mutuel machines with reckless abandon, horsemen, faced with rising costs for feed and for barn help, were entitled to their share of it. The tracks did not hesitate to meet eleventh hour strike threats.

The trend has now reversed itself. With mutuel handles dropping, the horsemen should concentrate on holding the many gains they have won during the past six years instead of trying to find out what new concessions they can gain.

There will be other track operators like Jimmy Donn who, with a pencil and piece of paper, will be able to figure how they can save money by remaining closed. Other than the wealthy owners of big racing stables, few horsemen have much money. Frequently they lay awake at night trying to think of a friendly angel who will hand them a fresh bankroll for a small interest in their horses who run out of the money more frequently than they win.

Things are rapidly getting back to normal in racing, which will be a good thing for the sport.

Riddled B's Meet Hawks; Taylor to Center First Line

By BILL GRIMES

Although they will be without the services of Milt Schmidt and Murray Henderson the Bruins are confident that they will get back into the win column at the expense of the Chicago Blackhawks tonight at the Garden. "You cannot replace either Milt or Murray," was Pres. Weston W. Adams' reply when asked what he planned to do to bolster the Bruins, after Dr. Thomas A. Kelley had announced that Schmidt and Henderson would be lost to the club for weeks.

"But, I believe" continued the prexy, "We have enough good players available to make it very interesting for our opponents until we are back at full strength. The Bruins have always been tough to beat when they've been short handed. So watch them against the Hawks, Rangers and Canadiens this week."

Jack Crawford, the veteran defenseman, who has been on the hospital list with an injured foot will be back at his post tonight. The "Squire" has been playing the best hockey of his career this season and his return to give the Bruins a lift.

Coach "Dit" Clapper will paly Billy Taylor on the first line between Woody Dumart and Joe Carveth. He used this combination in Chicago and Detroit on the last trip and, though the Bruins dropped both games, Clapper was perfectly satisfied with the play of the new combination.

Don Gallinger will center for Wally Wilson and Eddie Sandford and Paul Ronty, recently recalled from Hershey, will work with Ken Smith and Pete Babando.

Coach Johnny Gottselig will open with an all ex-Maple Leaf sextet, with the sole exception of Doug Jackson, who will be in the nets. He will have Gus Bodnar centering for Bud Poile and Gaye Stewart with Ernie Dickens and Bob Goldham on his outer defense.

Since they've been with the Blackhawks, the five ex-Torontonians have convinced the NHL fans, particularly those in and around the Windy City that they belong in the big league. The Bodnar line has been a scoring unit, while Dickens and Goldham have materially strengthened the defense.

The Blackhawks opened the season with a weak outer defense. Due to the loss of Bill Mosienko, who suffered a broken leg in the All-Star game at Toronto, the offense didn't click. They dropped seven games, six before the famous "Five for Two" trade with Toronto.

The Hawks broke even in their first seven starts after the arrival of the Toronto replacements. Then, Emile "The Cat" Francis was replaced by Doug Jackson, who has been with Kansas City. If that was a smart move, at least the timing was off, for the rookie goalie was beaten for eight goals in his debut in Detroit and the following night at home, the Red Wings nicked him for nine more.

Since the acquisition of the five ex-Maple Leafs, the Hawks have been the top-scoring team of the league. In fact, in eleven games, they have tallied 42 times, which is only one less goal than Canadiens have scored all season.

If Doug Jackson recovers from the shock of his NHL debut that home and home series against the Red Wings—the Hawks may still make the playoffs.

Louis to Weigh 212 For Walcott Battle

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Coldly confident, Joe Louis closes hard training today for his world heavyweight title defense against Jersey Joe Walcott in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"I will win," said Joe as he prepared to do a final four rounds publicly at Pompton Lakes, N. J., and then rest up for his 24th fight as champion. Walcott, hopeful but silent, shut the gates on his last workout at Grenloch Park, N. J.

Louis mostly used his left yesterday against sparring partners Jimmy Bell, Shamus O'Brien, and Bob Garner, but despite the thick gloves it was a vicious left and it had O'Brien and Garner bleeding.

"He mixed it hard," said Manager John Roxborough, "to get ready for a smaller, faster man." Roxborough smiled slightly when he said "faster."

Louis will weigh 212 pounds, the heaviest by a few ounces of his entire carer, compared to Walcot's 192, for the 15-round fight.

"I feel stronger at that weight—it doesn't slow me," said Joe.

CRIPPLED BOY IDOL OF JOHNNY LUJACK

DENVER, Dec. 3 (AP)—Crippled Ike Golden, who has been idolizing All-America Johnny Lujack, cherished today a letter from Lujack that says Ike is the idol of the Notre Dame quarterback.

Aftr Notre Dame's football victory over Army several weeks ago, Ike told his mother, Gee, Mom, if I could gain some weight and get control of these fingers I might be as good as Johnny Lujack."

Mike's remarks were published in a Rocky Mountain news article telling of his self-rehabilitation since he was born almost totally paralyzed. Sixteen-year-old Mike has made himself walk, talk and laugh like other boys.

An admirer sent the article to Lujack, who wrote a lengthy letter to the Denver boy. The pharese most cherished by Ike was Lujack's assertion, "I hope I can be as good as Ike Golden if I ever run up against the odds that you have had to settle."

Quick Settlement Seen In Florida Race Strike

By DAVE WILSON

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3—Prompt settlement of the two-day-old horsemen's strike and resumption of racing at beautiful Gulfstream Park on Friday or Saturday of the current week if not sooner was freely predicted by both sides this morning, as President Jimmy Donn and officials of the turbulent seaside course prepared to meet the striking horsemen as a group in a session to be held this afternoon at one o'clock in the American Legion hall at Hialeah.

Just what the basis for the settlement of the strike that has knocked out racing at Gulfstream Park since last Monday would be, nobody seemed to know for certain, but everyone seemed confident that differences could be ironed out and a compromise satisfactory to both factions substituted.

It was pointed out by leaders of the striking horsemen that a compromise could not have been effected before today's meeting because the committee representing them were instructed to accept only the terms of a $2500 minimum purse, a daily purse distribution of $22,000 per day and the turning over by the Gulfstream management of some $29,000 to the H.B.P.A., a sum which the track had failed to add to purses at the previous spring meeting as per agreement with the horsemen. Yesterday's confab between the horsemen's committee and Gulfstream officials was the stormiest of the long series, and at one stage Pres. Jimmy Donn threatened to "wash his hands" of the matter for the time being and go to Chicago for the T.R.A. convention now in session there. However, when the horsemen asked Donn to present his side of the story to them at today's meeting, he readily agreed and immediately cancelled his plane reservations to the Windy City.

At yesterday's session, Donn agreed to turn over the $29,000 withheld in purses at the spring session, and sought to compromise the horsemen's purse demands by offering a $2000 minimum for the first 10 days of his session, $2200 for the next 10 days and $2300 for the final 20 days of the scheduled session.

Donn insisted that his offer is an extremely fair one in view of the fact that Monday's opener clearly showed that there would be a material drop in both attendances and mutuels.

Alex Dumestre, national president of the HBPA, who is leading the horsemen's fight for increased purses, said following yesterday's session:

"The horsemen's committee is working along the lines for an early resumption of racing at Gulfstream Park. I believe a good night's rest and some careful deliberation will go a long way towards settling the dispute."

VORLAGE! That means "lean forward" as Olympic skier Paula Kann demonstrates the downhill running position. Skis parallel, knees bent is the instruction.

Skiing Made Simple--No. 3

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

LESSON NO. 3: DOWNHILL RUNNING POSITION—When you hear an expert skier or instructor use the term "vorlage" don't be alarmed; it merely means "forward lean."

And that is exactly what Paula Kann, a member of the U. S. Olympic ski squad, is doing in the above photo—she's leaning forward in the correct downhill running position.

To attain this form, practice on a gradual slope at first, traversing the hill to cut down speed. Have your skis parallel, about six inches apart, one slightly ahead of the other. The body must be relaxed at all times. Hold your poles exactly as Miss Kann demonstrates, with the arms hanging loosely, the hands above the knees. Remember, do not drag your poles.

It is highly important that your knees are BENT. The weight must be forward. Press down on the balls of your feet, and don't sit back on your heels.

The chief mistake made by most beginners is that they bend from the waist only, thinking that they are in the proper position, while their legs remain stiff. Don't do this! Strive to put "springs" in your knees.

By running slopes in the correct form, you can schuss steep pitches and zoom over bumpy terrain, without losing your balance.

The steeper the slope, the more pronounced should be the "vorlage." Racers often employ a low crouch on trails, but this is not recommended for recreational skiing, and is utilized to decrease the wind resistance. On icy stretches, the weight should still be kept forward, with the steel edges brought into play.

(In tomorrow's Boston American, the Snowplow position will be explained.)

Showdown In Hockey Row

CHICAGO (AP)—The U. S. Olympic committee which unhappily is seeing double on the subject of the American ice hockey entry in the 1948 Olympics today will review its ramified feud with the American Hockey Ass'n and perhaps discuss the possibility of keeping the United States entirely out of the winter games.

The meeting here calls for completion of plans for sending American ski, bobsled, speed and figure skating and hockey teams to Switzerland for the games at St. Moritz, Jan. 30-Feb. 8.

But the question of who's who and what's what in the ice hockey department—the A. H. A., backed by the International Ice Hockey Federation, has a team ready to compete and so has the Amateur Athletic Union, championed by the U. S. Olympic committee—might cause the committee to get mad enough to keep the whole winter contingent at home.

Hus-Skier Olympian

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Growing in size like a rolling snowball is the official ski club of Northeastern Univ., known as the Hus-Skiers, which boasts a membership of well over 100 enthusiasts. One of this group's most famous members is Kalle Nergaard, who will compete for Norway's Olympic ski team at St. Moritz, Switzerland, this winter.

Jon B. Mallette coaches the racing squad of the club, and expects to have his boys represented in many of the season's major meets. At present, the lads are concentrating on the downhill and slalom events, but they hope to vie for honors in jumping and cross country, as well.

The Hus-Skiers will conduct their third annual winter carnival in the Tamworth region of New Hampshire, Jan. 9-11, where every type of snow and ice sport will highlight the program.

Thornton S. Cody, former ski trooper with the 10th Mountain Div., and erstwhile president of the club, tells us that the organization will present John Jay, well-known authority on skiing, with his new film, "Singing Skis," Wednesday evening, Dec. 10, at 8:15, in the Rindge Tech Auditorium, Cambridge. Tickets are on sale at all ski shops.

This movie will provide a real treat for all skiers. We served in the Mountain Troops with Jay during the war, and believe his films to be tops in the ski world.

Many of his exciting shots are actually taken from speeding skis. Both John and his wife, Lois, will fly to Switzerland shortly, in order to photograph the Olympic ski events.

Major Leagues Plan to Admit 4 Coast Teams

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP)—The 10-team major league, which proved a dud once before, may be revived in the National and American Leagues in the near future.

The executive council has drawn up preliminary plans for such a revolutionary move with the purpose of admitting four Pacific Coast League teams in the majors, the Associated Press learned from a reliable source last night.

The source added that the teams are Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and Hollywood.

"The executive Council, with the approval of the major leagues, had agreed that this is the only logical step," the source continued. "After its visit to California last August during which time it listened to the demands of the Pacific Coast League, the council studied the matter carefully and decided that it would not be feasible to grant the Coast League's request. It agreed, however, that major league ball was bound to come to the coast some day."

"The council was of the opinion that two of the coast's cities—Los Angeles and San Francisco especially—were prepared for big league baseball," the informant said.

"Hollywood and Oakland were included to give the leagues better balance. With four teams in the American and National Leagues, the playing schedule would be greatly simplified. The four coast team idea would also act as a stimulant to intercity rivalry in California."

The latest plan, however, faced determined opposition from the Pacific Coast League itself. Clarence Royland, when informed of the movement afoot, admitted that he had heard of something brewing "along those lines," but insisted that he had never been informed directly of such a plan.

"The Pacific Coast League has only one purpose," he said, "and that is to become a major league in its entirety. We will never consent to have the majors take one, two or four clubs from us."

Rowland was one of 54 minor league presidents who listened yesterday to a speech by National Ass'n head George Trautman cautioning them against furthe rexpansion.

Trautman said, "Our main job is not to seek additional leagues but to strengthen all our existing leagues."

Harris Isn't Conceding '48 Flag to Red Sox

By JOE CASHMAN

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3 — Stan Harris, suave and dapper manager of the champion Yankees, should be more concerned but apparently is less concerned than any other rival American Leaguer over the Red Sox' acquisition of Vern Stephens, Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder.

"Why all the uproar over these Sox deals?" asks the Bombers' boss. "I say more luck to Joe Cronin. I'd have grabbed those players if I had the chance. So would several other clubs. Nobody has any license to complain because the Sox were fortunate enough to get them.

"I don't concede the Sox the pennant because they've added these fellows. It's certain, though, they'll be much tougher to beat than they were last year. But that's the way it should be in baseball. Every club should be striving always for a flag winner."

In view of the screeching done by the Yankee owners when the Hose-Brownies transactions were first announced, these current utterances of Harris tend to confirm the reports that the champions have virtually completed a deal whereby they'll get Walter Masterson, bespectacled right-handed pitcher from Washington.

Rickey in Secret Meeting With Chandler

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP)—Branch Rickey, who stayed home to clear up important business in the muddled Brooklyn Dodger managerial situation, has made a trip to Comr. A. B. Chandler's office in Cincinnati after denying a report that Leo Durocher already had been signed.

Branch Rickey, Jr., son of the Dodger president, said his father told him in a telephone conversation that he had visited Chandler's office. He did not say the trip concerned Durocher but baseball writers were quick to jump to that conclusion.

When the Dodger advance crew paid a flying visit to San Domingo, inspecting the Brooks' spring training site, Rickey remained in Flatbush because of "pressing business." The Mahatma had announced that he would name his manager before Dec. 10.

Durocher's name again was splashed across the headlines when the Columbus Council Knights of Columbus, No. 126 in Brooklyn passed a resolution opposing the re-instatement of Leo as Dodger manager "because Durocher's private life is not the type toward which youngsters can look for inspiration."

Rickey has indicated that he would not be influenced by pressure from any group in naming his manager, whether it be Dudocher or Burt Shotton who guided the club to the 1947 pennant after Chandler suspended Durocher for the season.

Flatbush fans who have grown weary of the Dodger-Durocher serial were more interested in confirmation from Rickey, Jr., that Dixie Walker, the people's choice, had turned down an offer to manage the St. Paul farm club of the American Ass'n.

Young Rickey indicated that Dixie would prefer to remain in the majors as a player. It was understood he made about $25,000 last season and he could not approach that in St. Paul as a pilot.

There is a strong possibility that the veteran right fielder may be traded. The line forms on the right.

EAGLES VOTE

Prchlik Named Outstanding Eli

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Dec. 3 (AP)—The New Haven Gridiron Club, an organization of local football fans, has decided that John Prchlik of Cleveland, O., a Yale guard, was "the outstanding player to appear in the Yale Bowl during the 1947 football season."

The club gave him an award saying so at its fourth annual banquet last night.

Thus Prchlik, a senior, was adjudged not only the best man on the Eli eleven, but also better than any player who appeared in the Bowl for Kings Point, Cornell, Wisconsin, Springfield, Dartmouth, Brown or Harvard, Yale's home opponents during the past season.

Medford to Play in Florida Dec. 12

Medford's undefeated Mustangs will play a postseason game in Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 12. The Medford officials last night voted to accept the bid from Robert E. Lee igh School of Jacksonville, Fla. Headed by the city's prominent business men, a drive to raise nearly $8000 is underway.

School Superintendent J. Stephen Kadesch has agreed to grant a day off to students so they may conduct a tag day to raise the needed funds. A paper drive, public subscription for funds and various other means for raising the money have already been approved.

Scheduled to leave Boston Monday, Medford will take the entire squad, according to Coach Tom O'Connor.

Coaches Hold Final Meeting Monday to Name All Players

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Football has practically ended, in scholastic ranks, but—as the song says—the melody lingers on. There'll still be all-star games; post-season contests; some mystifying bowl bids and, quite naturally, the all-scholastic teams to be selected.

All teams mean work, hours of study and, of course, the Official Eleven as selected by the 10 members of the Boston Evening American Board of Coaches.

This group will hold their final conference next Monday night at the Hotel Lenox when all details of the selection of the club will be ironed out. They'll whittle down their list, which starts off as a basic 130 players, to the required number and, as in year past, without benefit of utility players. It will be a team that could be fielded immediately as the best in schoolboy ranks—position for position.

Members of this board will be Bill Ohrenberger, asst. physical director in the Boston schools; Coach Harry Downes of Brookline; Coach Dennie Gildea, Everett; Coach Bill Cronin, Hingham; Coach Dave Gavin, Melrose; Coach Henry Toczylowski, Arlington; Coach Glenn O'Brien, Salem; Coach Mark Devlin, Lawrence, and Coach George Kenneally, Revere. A replacement for the retired Ed "Skip" Sherlock, Hyde Park, will be announced shortly.

The coaches will cover a radius within 30 miles of Boston including the cities of Haverhill, Brockton. It would be virtually impossible to name any school which at least one member of the board has not seen in action. Or if they've missed one, they've spotted a particular player at any given school.

Then, too, they've had inside information from other mentors about a certain boy's strength or weakness. They know how and where they've played against such fellows as Harry Agganis; how they've tried to stop George Bullard of the Lynn Classical club; they know the sparkplug of the champion Medford eleven; they realized the trickery Mario Dell Orfano's play calling for the Boston English eleven.

All these points will be taken into consideration—all points that nobody except the coaches themselves would know about.

They'll battle it out to settle positions. They'll have lengthy arguments. They'll mete out criticism as well as praise. They'll break down their list until they get exactly the greatest team of All Scholastics to be assembled.

CUBS SCOUT 'E' BOY

Herbie Haines, flashy shortstop of the Everett High School team last season, is expected to sign with the Chicago Cubs. According to reports, a Cub scout has taken a strong fancy to Haines and forwarded a glowing report of his ability to the Cub front office.

Haines also played with the Everett American Legion, Malden Twi and Chelsea City Club teams.

Notre Dame, Michigan Compared on Outcome Of Games With Trojans

By FRANK LEAHY
Head Coach, Notre Dame University

My good wife, Flossie, has packed my bags, goodbys have been said to the five little Leahys along with the distribution of shiny new quarters—(it used to be dimes before bubble gum went up)—and we are off for California, the land of brilliant sunsets and Crosby jackets.

My lads are being entertained Saturday by those fine Trojans of Southern California. We hope as good hosts they permit us to take home at least a modicum of cake.

It is bound to be quite a gridiron get-together. We had the pleasure of watching the Trojans turn back game UCLA. The manner, however, in which the Trojans performed their duties and handled a really great Bruin line added worry to the pleasurable afternoon. Coach Jeff Cravath has done a great job with the Trojans.

This year's Trojan team—which has had a perfect season marred only by a tie with Rice—can do about everything with a pigskin but make it disappear.

The line up front, bulwarked at tackle by Johnny Ferraro and at end by Paul Cleary, is something to watch. The backfield is sparked by two great passers, Jim Powers and George Murphy.

In the UCLA game the yardage lost by both teams amounted to 278, and if it wasn't the roughest game of the year on the Coast, or so I was told, it was the most closely called. Personally, we thought both sides played for keeps, but most cleanly and fairly. It was a game greatly relished by the 102,000 fans.

As we move West with the Irish we are fully cognizant of the fact that the game can be one of the most important of the year. The lads on the West Coast are eager to prove that football out that way has soared back since the slim war years. They fully expect to spoil the perfect record set by my lads so far this season.

Probably most important of all to the fans throughout the nation, however, is the fact that the game will be the first act of the drama leading to the comparison of this season's Notre Dame and Michigan teams.

Michigan has had a perfect season and all year it has been give-and-take between the Irish and the Wolverines as to whom would occupy the Associated Press totem pole as the team voted best in the nation.

Michigan gets its chance to present its case against the Trojans on New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl. Comparative scores can never be taken with the authority of a Gallup poll. But you can bet comparison of the scores tallied, or failed to be tallied, by Notre Dame and Michigan against Southern Cal, will offer food for future discussion.

My lads are in fine shape and fettle for the test. Ziggy Czarobski, the Adolph Menjou of our squad, turned up for the trip in a sports ensemble he vows will make Bing miss a note. Ex-Marine Jim Martin, our sterling end who swam ashore at Tinian to obtain vital information before the invasion began, says it is a wonderful trip to the Pacific. He has a round-trip ticket he is sure to use both ways this time.

Following our game with the Trojans, we expect to haul off and give our own All-America selections as well as sectional and all-opponent teams. Purely personal opinion, of course, but it will be fun. We'll also keep you in touch with Bowl game prospects. Wish you could be with us, California-bound. A wonderful, wonderful country, this America or ours.

2 Notre Dame Players Picked On AP Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The Midwest, boasting the nation's two top ranking teams in undefeated and untied Notre Dame and Michigan, carried off honors on the 23rd Associated Press All-America football team by filling three of the four all-important backfield positions.

Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack, Michigan's Bob Chappuis, and Ray Evans, key man in the Kansas attack, are the Midwesterners on the first team backfield.

To round out the backfield of fine passers and hard runners the southwest has come up with this year's only sophomore All-America in Doak Walker, forward passing wizard from Southern Methodist.

The line, dominated by six-footers weighing between 195 and 230 pounds, finds the East with three positions—Center Charles Bednarik of Pennsylvania, End Bill Swiacki of Columbia and Guard Steve Suhey of unbeaten and untied Penn State.

The remaining four places on the forward wall are held by players from the Far West, Midwest, Southwest and South. They are End Paul Cleary of Southern California, Guard Bill Fischer of Notre Dame, Tackle Richard Harris of Texas and Tackle Bob Davis of Georgia Tech.

This line is the heaviest since prewar days. It averages 213 pounds with Fischer the heaviest at 230. Davis, 6-foot-4 and tallest man on the entire first team, scales 225.

Harvard Coach Optimistic As Hoop Team Opens Tonight

By EDDIE HOPKINS

If the optimism expressed by half a dozen local coaches at the opening Basketball Writers' luncheon at the Lenox is even approximated by the results, the court game in Boston, from a standpoint of good teams, is headed for its biggest season.

Of course, the optimists are currently coaching undefeated clubs for the excellent reason that only one of their number has played a game (M.I.T. started off with a 53-37 victory over New Bedford Textile). But when six coaches of basketball or any sport will admit for publication their teams are good, things are really looking up.

Foremost among the members of the coaching fraternity who view the future through rose colored glasses is Bill Barclay, the guiding hand of Harvard's basketball forces. Bill is starting only his second year as head coach at Cambridge and lost Saul Mariaschin, currently sparking the Celtics, from last year's disappointing five. Yet Barclay is of the opinion that this year's edition of the Crimson is ready to go places.

"We've been out between six and seven weeks," stated the affable Midwesterner, "and were ready to go a week ago.

"Our starting five will have three holdovers from last year, headed by Capt. George Hauptfuehrer, the six-foot, four-inch leading scorer of last year's team. Steve Davis and Bill Henry will form the guards.

"Davis, who stands 6.3, is a greatly improved player from a year ago. Henry dropped football this year and as a result has been able to devote all of his time to basketball. He got a late start last year after playing football but was coming fast at the end of the season.

"John Rockwell and Cliff Crosby, a pair of sophomores, will hold down the forward berths. Both were high scorers on Warren Berg's good freshman five of last year, and both stand over six feet.

"Leading replacements include Bill Brady and Chip Gannon, from the varsity team a year ago, and Bill Prior, who played with the J. V.'s last year."

The Crimson opens its season tonight with Tech at the latter's home court and then plays host to Brown on Saturday . . . Holy Cross' NCAA champions invade Tufts tomorrow night in the opener for both clubs . . . On Friday, B. U. tangles with M. I. T. at Mechanics Building, which is to be the scene of quite a few games this year . . . That same night Tufts travels to Devens to open the season for the GI's and on Saturday, Northeastern visits Worcester Poly to open the Huskies' campaign . . . B. C. marks time until Dec. 9 when they face R. I. State down there.

Celtics Drop To 3d Place

By FRED HOEY

With the lead in the Eastern division of the B. A. A. within their grasp, the Celtics blew a tough overtime game to the Baltimore Bullets, 77 to 69, last night at Boston Garden. The Celts could not do anything right in the overtime while the Bullets could do no wrong in this period.

When the game went into overtime after a 63-63 tie in regulation time the Bullets opened with plenty of fire and maintained it throughout.

In all fairness to the Celtics, it must be stated that they should have won in regulation time. The players were a bit over-zealous as they saw the open basket before them. As a result they constantly missed soft shots.

The early efforts of the Celtics is worthy of mention as they led for three periods. Their pace was set by Dutch Garfinkle, Ed Sadowski, Mel Reibe and Saul Mariaschin. This quartet put on a great scoring show for the 3000 fans.

As a result of the loss, the Celtics drop back to third place.

20 Named Eligible For '48 Olympic Hockey Squad

The 20 players eligible for the 1948 Olympic hockey team were named yesterday by Johnny Garrison, former Harvard athlete who recently was appointed to coach the A. H. A. squad.

Of the group, seven are Dartmouth alumni, four are former Harvard stars, two served the collegiate apprenticeship at Yale and one candidate was chosen from Boston University.

From the group a final selection of 13 players not including two goalies will be chosen. The candidates will report to Garrison on Dec. 15 and will play practice games with McGill University and the University of Toronto prior to sailing for Europe on Jan. 9.

This A. H. A. team is not backed by the U. S. Olympic committee which has given its blessing to an A. A. U. squad.
